WIC gives supplemental foods

WIC is a supplemental food program that provides nutritious foods, along with nutrition education. There is no cost to the participant, as it is funded by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) through the Kentucky Cabinet for Human Resources.

WIC is for pregnant, breast-feeding and postpartum women, infants; and children to five years of age. The purpose of WIC is to improve the health of its participants through good nutrition. To qualify for WIC, you must meet income guidelines and also have a nutritional risk reason to be on the program.

Once a participant is admitted to the program, the mother receives nutrition education counseling and food instruments which are redeemable at local grocery stores. Foods available through WIC are milk, eggs, cheese, juices high in Vitamin C, cereals high in iron and dried beans or peas. Infants may receive iron-fortified formula, infant cereal and infant juice.

All participants must be recertified every six months and must be a resident of the county in which they are served. WIC is open to all persons and doe snot discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, sex or handicap.

Carlisle Eye Care Center

20/20 ???

Q. Settle an argument. Is 20/20 perfect vision, or not?

A. It's not. 20/20 means only that you have normal vision for seeing sharply and clearly at a certain distance.

This is only one of the vision skills we need to see well. Your optometrist will test those skills during a thorough vision examination. It takes 30 to 60 minutes to examine your eyes thoroughly and prescribe glasses, contacts or vision therapy, if needed.

You can, for example, have 20/20 vision and still not be able to maintain visual awareness to the side while looking straight ahead; see clearly for reading and other close work; use your two eyes together as a team; judge distances; change your eyes' focus from far to near or vice versa without noticeable blurring and use other vision skills.

20/20 also is not a sign that your eyes are free of disease. Just as important as the optical aspects of sight and vision is eye health. A thorough examination for healthy eyes on a yearly basis is very important.
