LETTERS TO THE EDITOR
November 8, 1996
November is observed across the country as National Hospice Month, offering a simple message of hope for the entire community.
HOSPICE WILL BE THERE IF AND WHEN YOU NEED US
Because a cure is not the goal, Hospice treats the patient and family, not the disease. Pain and symptoms are managed as necessary to make each day as comfortable as possible.
All Hospice are community based, drawing on professionals and trained volunteers from our own neighborhoods.
Hospice is should be fulfilling and satisfying right up to the very last moment. Hospice can add days to life, but it shouldn't add life to every day.

Nothing is more peaceful on a cool autumn day than fishing from a rowboat on Lake Carmichael as this fall fishermen found.
