GENERAL NEWS

Candidates answer questions, state positions in candidate forum

CARLISLE — The Carlisle Mercury mailed general questionnaires to every opponent candidate running in the local general election on November 2. All written candidates were included in the mailing.

The questionnaires included such questions as, "What do you believe most qualifies you for the office you are seeking and how do you propose to stimulate economic growth in this area."

Even though space was made available to all opposed candidates, not all candidates chose to respond.

The below responses are in the candidate's own words and remain unedited.

Incumbent Carlisle City Mayor Frankie Hughes
"What do you believe most qualifies you for the office you are seeking?" I have been active in community affairs for many years and am a member of civic organizations. I enjoy dealing with the public and dealing with their problems and concerns because they're important to me as I know most everyone in Carlisle and Nicholas County.

"I have been on the City Council for four years and am just finishing eight years as Mayor.

I have a good working relationship with all city department heads and employees.

I also have a lot of contacts with department heads in Frankfort. I have been able to work with them for the betterment of the City."

"What do you feel are the greatest problems facing Carlisle - Nicholas County today?" We do need some smaller factories to help ease our unemployment. I am happy with Jockey International and all of our smaller employers.

"I have always tried to be of help and have a good working relationship with Jockey and all other businesses. I try to help them if they have a problem or if they need assistance from the city."

"What would you propose to remedy these problems?" Stimulate more businesses and smaller factories would be a great help for Carlisle and Nicholas County. We need to find a way to keep our younger generation here in this area."

"What do you feel can be done by local government to promote economic growth?" Continue to work with all the civic organizations I have done in the past.

"Everyone needs to work together for the betterment of our City."

How do you propose to stimulate economic growth in the area? "Our city services have been updated for economic development. We also have good schools and health facilities to attract people to our city. We have an industrial Park ready for industry with gas and water already there. Sewer services would be readily available at the park."

When programs sponsored by local government, do you feel should be cut or awarded extra funding and why? "We have a lot of important programs which the city has tried to assist with their funding. Each group is playing an important part in helping our citizens with a lot of problems and also the handicapped and shut-ins. This has been a difficult year but I have contin-

Why are you seeking this office? "I've been a life long citizen of Carlisle and Nicholas County. I've been in business
