The Sunnyside Homemakers meet, plan events. The Sunnyside Homemakers met on Tuesday, September 21, 1993 at the extension office. Lavina McFarland gave the devotional reading Genesis 1: 1-5 and a poem, "Another Year is Dawning" followed by another poem, "There's No Jubilee" All prayed "The Lord's Prayer". Skylla Brady gave a reading "The Ten Commandments of Happiness."

We answered roll call by naming a lead. We had new members, color guard and our new agent, Melba Burch. Our new treasurer reports some of their dues and will be in place of having a bake sale at Court Days, and some paid reservations for our area meeting which will be October 12 on Tuesday at the Fayette County Extension office and our lunch and program at the Red Mill. There will be a Halloween party at the old armory October 5th at 6 p.m. Come dressed if you wish and there will be prizes, cake walk, and several things. It is sponsored by Sunnyside Club and Neighbors class. It is for a county to attend. We had a delicious lunch picnic.

Our lesson was given by Lavina McFarland and Melba Burch on caring for your textile habitats. The handkerchief and string etc. we also saw slides showing what and how to do. Our next meeting will be at Adonai Miss Gilligan's, October 19. We are to reveal secret pals with gifts and draw names of the coming years meetings - where, where, what lesson will be etc. Meeting adjourned.
