CHILDREN. Every year every Nicholas County children come to school without a coat, or wear one which is too small or unusable, now there is a simple way for concerned members to help keep these children keep warm during the cold winter months.
 The Nicholas County Family and Youth Resource Center, located behind Nicholas County Elementary, has formed a Community Coat Closet.
 *We will be identifying students in the elementary and high school who either do not have coats or have coats that are unsuitable or do not fit. Charles Campop, Director of the center, said.

 Community members who have outgrown coats or have no use for them may drop these garments off at the Department of Social Services on 226 Locust, Nicholas County Family and Youth Resource Center, Carlisle Chambers on 115 West Main Street, First Baptist Church or the high school or elementary offices.

"This is a brand new program in this community... there are many students in need and we must work together to meet this need. I would like to urge anyone who has an outgrown coat or has one they simply cannot use to drop it off at any one of the drop locations and we will see that it is cleaned by Carlisle Chambers and given to a deserving person." For additional information on the Community Coat Closet or to identify a child in need of a coat call Campop at 388-3702.
