Something Old, 1-624-3979
Something New, (606) 624-3979
There's something new to remember. From now on, when you make long distance calls to telephone numbers within Kentucky's 606 area code, dial 0 or 1 + 606 and then the number you're calling. The nation's continued telecommunications growth has created a shortage of telephone numbers. By dialing the appropriate area code on all long distance calls, numbers are freed up for new business and residential customers. If you have long distance numbers within the 606 area code on any program services or equipment like Speed Calling, Call Forwarding, modems, or even a FAX machine, now is the time to reprogram them. Effective April 2, 1994, dialing the area code will be necessary to complete long distance calls to telephone numbers within the 606 area.

Church Corner
The following is an article written by a local church official, and does not necessarily reflect the views or opinions held by The Methodist Church or Park, Lexington, Ky.
By Pastor Darrell Sexton
Carlisle Assembly of God
It is both a biblical and historical fact that Jesus came as a man to earth. It is also a fact that He brought God's Word alive in so many lives. Wherever He was, there was always a multitudes of men.

Seithers named Kentucky Colonel
Darrell F. Seithers of Carlisle has been named a Kentucky Colonel by Governor Ernest C. Jones and Secretary of State, Bob Givens. He is a county guard CMC in Paris, Kentucky and a member of the United Methodist Church in Carlisle. He graduated from Fleming County, where he was a member of FFA. He was on the judging team at the Kentucky State Fair in Louisville. He has two children, Dan and Casey, that graduated from Morehead State University.

District holds meeting
Members of the Nicholas County Conservation District attended the annual 5th area meeting on March 18, 1994. Those attending were Edgar Darrell, Stanley Alexander, Lovell Holler, Eugene Leitcher, Sharon Bromagen, and Allen Hamon. Different topics and subjects were presented to update and plan for the future in ways that affect us as individuals and our quality of life. The Nicholas County Conservation District has an equipment revolving fund in which individuals can borrow money to purchase equipment. Certain criteria and standards have to be met and these funds are available in conjunction with the Division of Conservation in Frankfort, Kentucky. There are two distaters in the county getting ready and geared up for Spring work. Billy Bowen, owner and operator and Bobby Crockett, owner and operator is Rusty Duan. Sharon Bromagen, District Clerk for Nicholas County Conservation District recently attended a Team Quality Management Seminar at the Soil Conservation Service office in Lexington, Kentucky. The purpose of the seminar is to help provide a more quality product to the landowners. Although the number of fatalities caused by iron does not seem to place it in a high-risk category, the ready availability of iron tablets contributes to the risk. Most consumers do not recognize the danger posed by their medication. The fact that it is available without a prescription would seem to indicate that it is very safe to use.

Brown to play for BC
Nicholas County High graduate Daniel Brown is a returning member of the Berea College basketball team. Daniel plays short stop and also pitches for the Berea team. The 22 member team, coached by Kelly Combs, is competing in the 20 game season. Currently, the Mountaineers are 8-5 overall and 3-3 in District 32 play. Daniel is a sophomore education major at Berea. He is the son of Denver and Brown of Carlisle.

Health Matters

Watching out for iron poisoning
By Jackie Burnett, R.N.
Accidental iron overdose is the leading cause of pediatric deaths from poisoning in the United States according to data from the American Association of Poison Control Centers (AAPCC). In 1991, there were 14 pediatric fatalities reported to the nation's regional poison control centers. Iron-containing products accounted for 11 cases, or 25 percent, of all deaths. Although the number of fatalities caused by iron does not seem to place it in a high-risk category, the ready availability of iron tablets contributes to the risk. Most consumers do not recognize the danger posed by their medication. The fact that it is available without a prescription would seem to indicate that it is very safe to use. Over-the-counter iron and iron containing products can be purchased easily in grocery stores, convenience stores, pharmacies, and health food stores. Manufacturers coat the pills with bright colors which help mask the unpleasant taste and make them more appealing to consumers. Iron comes in many forms, but ferrous sulfate tablets lead the list as the most readily available type of iron. Poison control specialists can assist the danger based on the potential risk, time frame, and symptoms described.
