Denkins

at Lexington's Campbell House.

At her side will be Lady Jackcets Basketball Coach Barbara Kenney and her grandparents, Lowell and Donia Fryman. Donia Fryman, who hasn't missed one of Kim's games, said, "She just likes what she does."

If Denkins wins, grandmother Fryman will be pleased. "I'll be proud of her, naturally. This is what Kim has worked for."

The competition includes Denkins, Vonda Jackson of Clay County and Laurie Townsend of Apollo in Owensboro.

"I didn't really think I'd be in the top three for Miss Basketball," Kim said last week while watching three and four years olds at the Community Action Council as part of the requirements for Gainful Childhood Education class. Already a recipient of a University of Kentucky Athletic Scholarship for basketball, Kim plans on majoring in elementary education this fall.

The attitude of the Miss Basketball finalist is typical, said her coach. That's Kim's attitude. She's a very unselfish person. That's how she always thinks."

According to The Lexington Herald, Mike Aldridge of the Lions Eye Foundation said 123 girls' basketball coaches returned ballots for the competition. One hundred sixty-one boys' coaches toos, part in voting for Mr. Basketball.

The Mr. and Miss Basketball program is sponsored annually by the Kentucky Lions Eye Foundation.

This year, coaches got to vote after state tournament. Ballots were due March 25. The longer time gave coaches a chance to see a player in action at the State Tournament.

Denkins and Jackson both participated in the Sweet 16 Girls' State Tournament. Townsend didn't. Average scores for the girls are Denkins with 21 points; Jackson with 14.5 points and Townsend with 30.

Winners of the Mr. and Miss Basketball war No. 1 jerseys in the Kentucky-Indiana summer series. Those all-star teams are determined after tryouts at South Laurel High School April 16-17 in London, Ky.

Coach Kenney wasn't surprised about Kim being a finalist at all. "I've had her in P. E. I've known Kim as a student in the first grade up. I could see her size, she's coordinated and has agility along with her size. But I certainly didn't realize she could do all the things she's accomplished."

Kim's accomplishments include being named Most Valuable Player in the Class A State in 1993-94, and the Sweet 16 MVP 1993.

"I felt like Kim had a chance. She plays well. We played 28 games and lost six. They (Lady Jackets) did a great job. Kim is the nucleus of the ball club. Kim had an average of 34 points during the three regional games to help get the team to the state. She had to have a strong shot at Miss Basketball," Coach Kenney believed.

Kenney said she'd talked to coaches from around the state. "So many coaches want Kim to win," she said.

This year's voting had the highest number of participants in the program's history.

Coach Kenney can visualize Kim in the Miss Basketball uniform. "To me, this is the most prestigious game she can play in. I feel that a Kim is most deserving to wear the No. 1 jersey - it's a great honor for her, our team and our community."

Kim's had family support during her years as a Lady Jacket. Kim said she got on the team due to the prompting of Coach Kenney and Nicholas County Elementary School Principal Mr. Gerald Hammonds.

"I know her family has to be so proud of Kim. I know they have made so many sacrifices. Anything Kim has needed they've done with kindness," Coach Kenney said.

Kim's mother, Yvonne Price, said Monday evening, "She told me, 'Mom, I don't have any hope. I told her, you've got as much hope as the next one. If it doesn't work out, you have UK to look forward to.'

NOTICE TO KENTUCKY UTILITIES COMPANY CUSTOMERS

On December 20, 1993, Kentucky Utilities Company filed an application with the Kentucky Public Service Commission for a Certificate of Convenience and Necessity to construct a 110 megawatt combustion turbine generating unit and associated facilities scheduled for completion in 1996 to be located at the Company's E.W. Brown Generating Station in Mercer County, Kentucky. The Commission has established Case No. 93-474 to review this application.

The Kentucky Public Service Commission has ordered that, as part of this review, Kentucky Utilities Company shall appear before the Commission at a hearing for the purpose of examining the Company's application. Applicable regulations governing this matter will be held in Hearing Room 1 at the Commission's offices at 730 Schenkel Lane, Frankfort, Kentucky 40602, on April 19, 1994 at 9:00 a.m., Eastern Daylight Time, for the purpose of receiving testimony from witnesses of Kentucky Utilities Company and witnesses of Intervenors.

Rental Medicine and Transplantation.

While at Jackson Memorial he published articles featured in medical journals, most notably in the American Journal of Medicine, he said.

In his training and experience he brings expertise in Echocardiography, Cardiac Doppler blood flow studies and Echo-Stress testing for assessing cardiovascular capacity and diagnosing suspect heart disease.

"I find this area very attractive," Doctor Berian said. "It's been awhile since I've been in this part of the country and I'm happy to return."

Johnson Mathers Health Care Administrator Dan Miller expressed his enthusiasm at having Dr. Berian locate in Nicholas County. "I am very impressed with Dr. Berian's enthusiasm for his work. Before he even started, he was out meeting people in town and enjoyed conversing with those he encountered. He likes to be busy and makes himself available to the community whenever they need him. That's a rare quality in doctors these days," Miller said.

Dr. Berian stated, "I am pleasantly amazed at the state-of-the-art clinical medical technology services available at this hospital on a daily basis, quite advanced for a small community.

Complementary to this technology is Dr. Berian's impressions of the clinically competent and knowledgeable staff services. "The hospital seems impressive of every aspect of health care delivery," Dr. Berian said.

Dr. Berian said he is looking forward to joining the professional medical staff in Nicholas County and addressing his attention to the community's medical needs.

McAlpin's of Lexington will give a demonstration of "Spring Fashions for '94" and will have an audience member makeover.

From 1:30 to 2 p.m., Brenda Burrier, R.D., will talk about lowering cholesterol and fats in one's diet in her talk, "A Change of Plate."

Burrier is from Harrison County and is a registered dietician for JMHC.

From 2 to 2:30 p.m., Mary L. Bingham, obstetrician/gynecologist, will discuss "Cervical and Ovarian Cancer."

Carlisle native Morford wins photography award

PARIS - Jay Morford, originally from Carlisle and owner of Thunderheart Studio, Paris, has won a blue ribbon in the Mid-East States Affiliated Print Competition hosted by the Professional Photographers of Ohio.

The Blue Ribbon winning photograph was a portrait of Bourbon County...firefighter Mark Logan.

Morford was one of the 327 photographers entered in the six state regional competition. Approximately 1,200 prints were submitted for judging.

By earning a Blue Ribbon at the Mid-East States print competition, the photographer will earn a Merit when the print is submitted to the National Print Competition.

The event was judged by "Masters of Photography" from all over the United States. The Mid-East Regional Competition consists of entries from Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio and is one of the largest print competitions and exhibitions in the country.
