Carle Council falls over ride vote of liquor by the drink ordinance. Exacting 3-2 vote on an attempt to override Carle Mayor Lee Benita's veto, cluding has changed.

In March, The Carle
Mercury claimed 21 awards, including five for first place, and earned a third place general excellence award, during the Kentucky Weekly Newspaper Association's spring meeting, last Thursday and Friday, on the campus of Morehead State University.

Nicholas County School was shown, along with about 100 other high schools in the state, to participate in Kentucky Education Television's Interactive Distance Learning Project.
The program is an advanced learning project REE has developed for high schools.

Less than two months ago, Parsley was retiring effective July 1.

pay. The cost of a bachelor of science degree in education is approximately $20,000 and purchasing a house costs the same. I'm not asking for you to take home a pay raise. For the required master's degree within the 10 year period, each graduate class costs an average of $230, not including tuition, books and fuel.

The teachers had asked the board last month for a five percent raise.
Representing the high school teachers were science teacher Cathy Green and English teacher Jack Hayes.

Green told the board she realized they couldn't give a definite answer concerning the raises during the meeting. "I'm not asking for you to tell us to wait. We just have not been getting any dialogue."
Board member Stanley Vice said, "I think what we're doing together now, not just the board, but everybody working together, proves that we can have discussion."

Linda Tiddler, a high school teacher, said she would like the board to approve a raise for the classified employees. Classified employees are cooks, custodians and bus drivers. To her knowledge, the last classified personnel salary increase was a two percent increase granted two years ago.

Tiddler referred to the classified employees as the "great kids" who keep the wheel, the Nicholas County Schools, in motion. "By providing the transportation, food and cleanliness in the schools, she added the board that the food kids jump off the tracks and go into the freezer," Board member Jimmy Daley commented. "I think you can do it this coming year to allow overworking the high school class. Clearer said, "I just stand up, but technology."

He said that, "Clearer regretted.
