Lady Jackets take district title defeating Colonels by wide margin

By Heather Mathee-Harris OF THE CARLISLE MERCURY STAFF
CITYHIANA The Nicholas County Lady Jackets brought home the district trophy after defeating the Lady Colonels of Bourbon County, 63-44.

Bourbon County tried to shoot out early with the first points on the board as Charly Fryman snagged the tip and handed off to Shelby Whitaker for the initial basket.

On the return, Nicholas County nearly lost the ball on a dead ball rebound, but Hopkins got a hand in on a Bourbon County cross court pass and placed the Lady Jackets in a jump ball situation - Nicholas possession.

Hopkins came back on offense and threw up her usual consistent baseline jumper.

After a Bourbon County turnover, Robin Fryman, Carol Lucky and Molly Hatterick stacked three on Kim Denkins in the paint.

But Hopkins lobbed in a pass, penetrating the stacked defense and Denkins took it straight up for a score.

Even though Hopkins rejected a high pass from Nichola Douvrey into the stands, Bourbon County retained possession and capitalized on the inbounds play with a basket added by Robin Fryman.
Charly Fryman came right back with a play from the penalty and Bourbon County went up 7-6.

Whitaker fouled Tawnya Livingood and Livingood went one for two at the line for the tie.
But with a dunk - so by Denkins and a stellar three-point shot answered by Sibert, Nicholas went up by five points.

Denkins followed up with an incredible put-back, one on the floor and two on the score. She was fouled the shot and added one at the line for the bonus.

At the half, both Sibert and Hopkins had three fouls, Denkins and Melanie Jones both had two fouls and George and Jennifer Willoughby both had one foul each.

Denkins jumped out to open the third quarter with a quick basket.

Whitaker fought back underneath for a no-look jumper. But on the return, Robin Fryman committed her third foul while trying to block penetration to Hopkins.

After George saw the opening and stepped on a dime, pulling up short at 15 feet and drilling the basket, Whitaker committed her third foul.

Bourbon County called timeout, 5:59 to play down 15 points, 28-23.

Back in the game, Hatterick faked at the basket and cut to Whitaker for the dunk.

It was the incomparable Hopkins who answered for Nicholas, with the set jumper from the baseline. She went on to pull down the no-nonsense rebound after a miss by Robin Fryman, and knocked down two more, swiveling from the corner for yet another basket.

With 2:58 yet to play, Nicholas County had compounded its lead, 44-28.

But Hopkins committed her fourth foul on Whitaker and she went two for two at the stripe.
George ensured the inside pass to Denkins who reaked up another two points.

Bourbon County continued to dig in and Robin Fryman drilled a jumper from the top of the key.
In the last seconds of the third quarter, she dropped one more to add to the Lady Colonels score, 50-23.

At the opening of the fourth, Hopkins forced another one down in Nicholas' favor.
Whitaker answered with two of her own, but Hatterick committed an offensive foul and Denkins went two for two at the line.

Bourbon County targeted it back over to Nicholas and the Lady Jackets ran away with six unanswered points.

First, Sibert lobbed in a pass to Denkins for the inside play.
George reached in for the air and cut to Schanding for the next basket. Finally, Denkins popped outside displaying those unverbal skills - for a basket.

Robin Fryman stripped down the rebound from the board to get the Lady Colonels back on track. She assisted Whitaker for the basket.

George faked to the middle and sought Hopkins at the corner on a calculated offense.

Although Renee Parsons nailed down the long range goal for Bourbon, the Lady Colonels traded 69-41.

With 1:58 to play, Nicholas County called timeout.

With 12 seconds to play, Rebecca McElrath fouled Robin Fryman on a shot and she hit a bonus to close out Bourbon County scoring.

For the final Nicholas County point, Jennifer Willoughby was fouled by Downey and went one for two at the line, driving home the final nail in the Lady Jacket Fifth District Victory over Bourbon County, 63-44.

Elizabeth Schanding, fellow senior Lady Jacket Alicia Sibert, Melchie Hopkins, Kim Denkins, Jennifer Willoughby and Tawnya Livingood, cuts down the district championships nets from the Harrison County gym.
