COMMUNITY

COOPERATIVE EXTENSION SERVICE

By John Mark Hlack
The Nicholas County 4-H program is on the move again, and it is an exciting time for the county. Many Nicholas County residents are active 4-H members at one time or another, and they will be glad to know that the program is once again gaining momentum. New clubs are being established, new leaders are being recruited, and young people are once again beginning to take notice of us. We are always looking for people with talents and with the leader of tomorrow.

As we begin on the long road of re-establishing an active 4-H program it is important for all of us to remember that the program is not just one person or one group of people. We must all remember that building a new 4-H program does not happen overnight. The success of the Nicholas County 4-H program depends on the participation of every member of our community who has an interest in the positive development of our young people. It depends on the involvement of parents, local leaders and business, and a community-wide commitment to providing positive role models for our future leaders. It also depends on our participation in the new skills for our county-wide education curriculum.
