LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

McDonald's and JMHC make life good in Nicholas
Dear Editor,
To the staff of the Nicholas County Hospital and the McDonald's Rescue Squad my heart felt thanks. Your expertise brought us through a trying time.

"They were more concerned over an invalid pizza coupon . . ."
I had watched the paper with interest as the city fathers tried to shop for the best price for ambulance service, and I shudder to think an outsider may have gotten the job due to a few dollars difference. These old crooked roads are treacherous enough to allow some one unfamiliar driving at life saving speed. In my 40 years on the road, I never knew the road cutting across from Crooked Creek to Brunker Turnpike was called Garnett Road. I had always heard it referred to as Polk Wagner Hill, but Ronnie McDonald and his staff knew. People, these people were here before the town was founded as the State Troopers took almost 20 minutes more, as a matter of fact Ronnie had to give one direction as he transferred my wife to the hospital. These people eat, drink, sleep, and breathe this job. Who do you want to answer your call for help?

"We were hard due to the nature of someone else's car that they were more concerned over an invalid pizza coupon than the patient's care."
I was that time. Please think about this when the contract comes up again. I also understand one of the reasons of prior hike was at least 40% on payment. People surely do goodness you could send me a check, and a couple other cases I don't remember, along with my wish. Each was tragic and each

Superintendent's Notebook

Skills employers want

Many employers say that the most important skills for the employees are the academic triad - reading, writing, and computation. With increasing regularity, employers are telling the media "Give me people with the three basic skills, people who can read, write, and do simple math, and I'll train them for the jobs I have available." Upon further probing, however, you find that employers want good basic academic skills and much more.

Learn to learn

The three skill groups are: 1. Learning to write; 2. The three R's (reading, writing, and computation); 3. Communication (listening and oral communication). "Creative thinking" is also a key skill. Motivation/personal development, interpersonal, organizational effectiveness and leadership.

Mercury staff wants

The Mercury staff wants to thank Angie Hall for her work. Angie Hall has been working for the Mercury for several years. She is a graduate with a high recommendation from Vada Fryman, Mrs. Masie and Mrs. Ballard of the football game at Berea this Friday, Oct. 14, begins at 7:30 p.m. The Bluejackets will take the game.
