

Breathitt County rolls Bluejackets -- "just not strong enough"

By Candace Gilbert, Wes Broderick and Shane Kennedy
 Special To The Mercury
 The Nicholas County Bluejackets had their eggs scrambled by AEA powerhouses Breathitt County last Friday night 29-6, in a brutal game in front of the home fans.

"We really picked a tough schedule to play at home, didn't we?" Coach Greg Letcher commented after the game.

The Bluejackets were lead again this week by the rushing efforts of sophomore Timmy Hopkins, who gained 121 yards in 21 carries. Hopkins scored the only touchdown for the Bluejackets. "They just overpowered us physically," tight end Wesley Broderick said. "We hit them hard, but that would make some of the other teams play lay down and quit, but they jumped up and came back for more."

Waylan Chapman led the Bobcats powerfully on an astounding 25-0 lead at half-time.

"They just kept hitting their holes and hitting their receivers," Broderick said. "We did all we could."

Both teams were extremely hard hitting, but Breathitt

Hopkins 3-yard scoring run for the Bluejackets followed.

For the Bluejackets, it was definitely with 8 tackles and 5 assists.

"I put a few vicious licks on people, but they were strong. I felt like I was bouncing off of them."

"I think a lot of the Bobcats were in a bad mood, but the tape made me feel better than I thought I did."

The Bluejackets, despite the loss, are still 2-0 in district play, and tied for first.

They drafted everyone for their support in signing the petitions and writing the letters. Business people all over town wrote letters as did County Family Share. Who also collected deposits last Friday so they'd be in their way to Washington with Beaser.

They think a lot of credit goes to Cary (Gary) Lester, Lester Family Store owner) and his employees," Brady commented.

The Nicholas County ASCS office may be on the closure list, but since a gag order was being issued Hampton Horton Jr., state ASCS Dept. of Agriculture director, can't tell anyone which counties are slated for the budget crunch closure. At one time, with Horton, the state director was on the list, yet it wasn't on the first list. The list has been revised many times. Horton told a group of farmers who met at the army last month.

Counties with ASCS, Soil Conservation and Farmer Home Administration located in one area, with the best scenario of all being under one roof, are the least likely to be on the closure list. Horton explained.

However, since this past summer, a freeze has been put on any county wanting to attain another office, such as Soil Conservation.

If Nicholas County ASCS is closed, farmers will have to travel expenses coming out of their pockets.

one "training" student.

Tech Prep types of learning certainly holds a student's attention, probably because of its fast lecture and note-taking.

Career Track Tech Prep also has a student decide which career track to take and when to be applied toward college credit.

Not everyone in Tech Prep is in high school classes, but the vocational classes they take at NCHS will enable them to pass entry level classes at a post-secondary institution, Beahman explained.

Not everyone in Tech Prep necessarily college-bound, but some will venture toward post-secondary education.

Beahman explained why technical skills learned in high school will help students get jobs upon graduation.

Students have an opportunity to work in the job market with technical skills. These individuals usually have an associate degree. The allows some of these jobs to have pay opportunities.

Courses offered in Horticulture and child care were the career programs offered this year at Nicholas County. Students informed Beahman these were the two main areas of interest they had.

Horticulture offers careers in the garden program possible.

Happy Birthday!

How many birthdays did the Master give To an ancestor that loves to live? 'Til you hit ten, this is what you say. A line has to run and play!

"I'll give him twenty," said the Voice on high. 'Til he went to have a family by and by. When the Lord gave thirty, Earl was so busy with family matters, his life was a busy. The Lord was the holder and He kept giving. He gave me fifty - 'Mac, that's the way it lives!

That old Long gave ten more, seventy came. He let him settle, that, and kept giving. That Lord gave him more, eighty coming! His life will full - Earl's still at mending! Who knows what the Lord will give that ancestor, when at his funeral and family hold so.

Happy Birthday, Dad
 We Love You!
