The Sweetheart Covered Yard Settle
This week's project is a variation of one my grandmothers used to do back yard. They would hold hands, and tell us about how things were in the 'good old days.' I can see my grandmother's face as I would slip roses from a nearby rose bush and place them in long loops.

Welcome to another addition of As The Crow Flies. Just the other day I pondered the dream of our fore fathers, the dream that a man could walk from sunrise to sunset and never step foot on his own property. I proved this dream is still very going days to the local nursery where I purchased two square yards of sod and strapped them to my feet.

The terms "dream home" will usually refer to a house someone wishes to build. That person will have an idea in his mind about what the completed house will look like. This will man that he will have a mental picture of the exterior, the number of rooms and what they will look like. This mental picture will even include the location of where this "dream home" will be built.
