Gretchen Judge of Carlisle, far left, is shown with two television sets she and other 1995 University of Kentucky doctor of pharmacy graduates helped donate to the UK Hospital Pediatric Intensive Care Unit. With Judge are Peggy Hollon, nurse Kim Johnson, and UK pharmacy graduates Cheri Estes and Scott Mark.

Judge earns doctor of pharmacy degree

LEXINGTON - Gretchen Judge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Judge of Carlisle, was awarded a doctor of pharmacy degree from the University of Kentucky College of Pharmacy at special commencement ceremonies held May 7.

This was the college's 125th graduating class. The guest speaker was James W. Holsinger Jr., chancellor for the UK Chandler Medical Center.

Judge was also named to the Dean's List for the Spring 1995 semester.

The UK College of Pharmacy - the only pharmaceutical college in the commonwealth - has graduated more than 5,000 pharmacists since its founding in 1870 as the Louisville College of Pharmacy; 85 percent of the graduates have remained in Kentucky to practice.

Nationally recognized for excellence in education, research and patient care, in 1993, the UK College of Pharmacy was ranked third in the U. S. News & World Report survey of the top 10 pharmacy schools in the United States.
