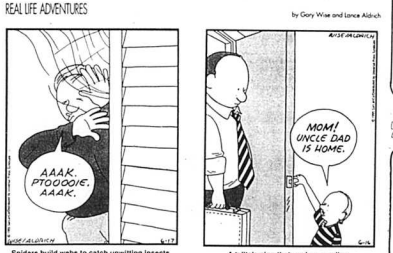
REAL LIFE ADVENTURES

by Gary Wise and Lance Aldrich



Spiders build webs to catch unwitting insects and even more unwitting homeowners.

A telltale sign that you're spending too much time at work.

Natasha's Stars

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Business interests proceed smoothly now. You'll get the green light from a higher-up to go ahead with a project both you and a co-worker have proposed. You'll soon begin important research.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You begin a long-term cycle this week that will expand your circle of friends. Some of these people will help you further your career. A travel opportunity is too good to pass up.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Extra drive and determination to reach your career goals will mark the months ahead. This week favors making decisions about investments as well as job concerns. Co-workers cooperate.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) You're likely to travel more often or to sign up for a course of study in the next few months. Some pursue that unfinished degree. Partnership interests are highlighted now. The weekend accents togetherness.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) You'll be placing an extra emphasis on matters pertaining to long-range financial security in the coming months. For some, it's a good time to devise a new budget. The week is smooth sailing regarding work interests.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) This week and in the next few months, couples will be spending more time with each other. Some will even decide to take the plunge. The weekend favors matters of the heart as a result of all this romance in your stars.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You'll be placing an extra emphasis on job interests this week and in the near future. You're likely to be busy with many new projects. However, avoid taking on more than you can handle at one time.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) In the coming months, you'll be going out more often for good times. The week brings you success in communicating your ideas to others, especially bigwigs. The weekend brings happiness in romantic outings.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) There will be an extra emphasis on home improvements and domestic interests in the months ahead. However, be sure to shop around for more than one estimate. Financial concerns rule your chart right now.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) More weekend getaways will be on your calendar in the coming months. Some take up a new skill or hobby. You are at your charming and magnetic best, so take advantage of this. Things go very much your way this weekend.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) You'll be coming up with new moneymaking ideas in the months ahead. The week also favors your financial prospects. Although you're excited by this, time by yourself this weekend leads to more insights and eventual success.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) A new assertiveness and a growing self-confidence will mark your approach to life in the next few months. This week you'll be making a wonderful impression socially. Don't give in to feelings of insecurity.

Dear Abby

Couch Potato Husband Makes Wife Feel Whipped and Fried

by Abigail Van Buren

© 1995 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have grown apart, literally. "Frank" has gained about 100 pounds since we married 15 years ago. He no longer participates in the activities that our two sons and I enjoy, such as hiking, biking, tennis, baseball and swimming. He won't even go to the beach.

He gets winded just walking up a flight of stairs. Frank will find any excuse just to get out of doing the most routine chores around the house. Consequently, I do all the work while he sits in his chair with the "remote" in his hand.

He has a good job, which he considers his contribution to our marriage.

He usually falls asleep right after dinner. We no longer sleep together because he snores and kicks. No amount of subtle hints or nagging has been successful in effecting any change. Frank and I separated one two years ago, but I took him back because I felt sorry for him.

I am not sure if I want a divorce, but I want my children to be raised in a healthy atmosphere with positive role models, and I have lost my respect for him. He smokes (at work) and has a history of heart disease. He has no health insurance or life insurance.

I should probably leave him, but I have neither the guts nor the money. I need your objective reply.

UNHAPPY AND INDECISIVE

DEAR UNHAPPY AND INDECISIVE: You must make your husband understand how his weight and self-destructive behavior are affecting you and his sons. You will need the cooperation of his physician, whom he probably hasn't seen in years. Arrange an appointment for a complete physical. Alert his doctor beforehand to stress the danger of continuing his present lifestyle.

If Frank doesn't shape up, waste no time in preparing to support yourself and the boys should the need arise. It may be sooner than you think.

DEAR ABBY: I have a suggestion for a baby shower for a second or third baby.

For my second baby, each guest brought a home-cooked meal, which I promptly put in my freezer. Abby, these meals provided me and my family with dinners for four weeks following the birth of my baby.

I cannot tell you how handy it was to be free from worry about what to have for dinner during that first month.

Every new mom and dad would be thrilled with such a gift. Pass this along to your readers.

NICOLE ANDREWS, SACRAMENTO, CALIF.

DEAR NICOLE: Thanks for a great idea. It's food for thought. (Sorry, I couldn't resist.)

DEAR ABBY: Regarding baldness:

Some people say that a man who is bald in front is a lover. If he's bald in back, he's a thinker. If he's bald all over, he thinks he's a lover.

NOT BALD IN GULFPORT, FLA.
