Trussell takes 1st place in FHA Star Event

By Leigh Stone
Of The Carlisle Mercury Staff

CARLISLE- The story of how "Gimme Gulch" became "Giving Gulch" gave Nicholas County High School freshman Kim Trussell a plaque, a certificate and a three star rating.

Trussell won first place in the Future Homemakers of American storytelling category in the Star Event regional competition.

Trussell, the daughter of Larry and Shirley Trussell of Carlisle, is on the way to following in her sister's footsteps. "My sister, Susan, won the Star Event in the State Division for Nicholas County," said Trussell.

Susan's now a junior at Lindsay Wilson College in Columbia, Ky. and is majoring in elementary education.

Trussell, FHA Regional Officer Ashley Hill, and FHA adviser Bonnie Metcalfe attended regional competition in Anderson County Feb. 25.

The storyteller credits her younger brothers, Rodney and Roger, with providing inspiration for her story. "Gimme Gulch" was derived from watching the elementary aged youngsters dress up for many bouts of Cowboys and Indians. Yelling naturally is the accompaniment of such play. Often, louder episodes.

"My mom, she's kind of like the sheriff in the story," laughed the red haired, brown eyed first place winner.

"I'm gonna be a lawyer," Trussell stated.

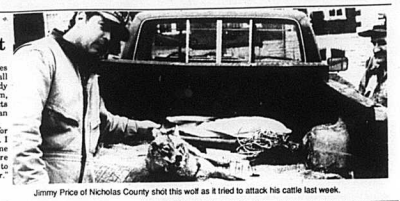
Dressed in a cowboy outfit complete with a button up flannel shirt of red, white, black and green, black jeans, low-heeled black leather boots, a black cowboy hat borrowed from Roger and a red bandanna, Trussell told her tale of "Gimme Gulch" to the judges. It took about five minutes.

With visuals like posters proclaiming "Gimme Gulch" Trussell told her western tale about a town that had "absolutely no sharing at all. The town is falling apart and there's a yelling match by a parlor woman and a farmer. The sheriff is the only one who wants everybody to get along. So they're arguing and then they hear the "Masked Menace." He's eaten towns whole. So the sheriff persuades the townspeople to all go together and build a fence so the town will be saved. And that's how "Gimme Gulch" became "Giving Gulch."

Metcalfe said state competition will be held April 25 at the

When not making up stories to tell, Trussell plays basketball with her teammates on the Lady Jackets Junior Varsity team, plays softball or does projects with Fellowship for Christian Athletes.

She thinks FHA is good for her. "I'm gonna be a lawyer. I think being in FHA will help me get used to talking before strangers. And I want to go to Lindsay Wilson like my sister."



Jimmy Price of Nicholas County shot this wolf as it tried to attack his cattle last week.
