Halloween and homework

From Mt. Cassandra Mitchell, Dettan Thorne (the duck) and Frances Tussell, eighth graders at Nicholas County Elementary School, dressed in costume in honor of Halloween Tuesday, Oct. 31. As the photo shows, one doesn't ditch homework just because it was Halloween. School is still school. Right girls?

'Old Faithful' of Yellowstone Park is probably the world's most famous geyser. It's called Old Faithful because it erupts for a minutes once in every 65 minutes and has not missed an eruption in 80 years.

CAC requests Christmas holiday help

Community Action Council is asking all central Kentuckians to help keep a child's face as bright as ever by sponsoring a child or family this holiday season. As many of us prepare for a joyful holiday season, some families face the cold reality that Christmas will not take place in their households this year. These families are forced to use their money to pay electric bills and other essential items. By becoming a sponsor, you essentially become Santa for a child or a family. If you wish, you may deliver your gifts to the home of your family or child or have Council staff deliver them for you. Community Action Council staff members will match you with a family. Head Start Center or classroom that fits your resources. Community Action Council is a non-profit organization which strives to create opportunities for low-income individuals and families which enable them to become self-sufficient members of the community. The Council asks that you reach into your heart and pull out a miracle for these low-income families this Christmas season.
