maintained by two local residents, Roger Livingood and Cecil Howard.

Camp Manger, Barbara Williams arrives at the campgrounds in late May and remains there until mid-August.

Open to 4-H Campers Monday through Friday, the program provides essential learning activities to youth ages 9 to 14. At age 14 campers can apply for a position as "Counselors In Training" or CIT. From that point, a CIT is eligible to become a "Junior Counselor" or JC and then on to an "Adult Counselor" position.

The staff members are a group of individuals dedicated to the children that attend the camp.

"This is a vacation for some of the children, wry to make it as enjoyable as possible," said Williams.

Counselors utilize their skills and knowledge to assist campers with a range of activities, including: swimming, riflery, canoeing, archery, and first aid. The staff consists of life guards, Avon Garrison and Daniel Hill, recreation leader, Tolu Wilson, arts and crafts instruction by Nancy Davis, nature instructor, Eric Conley, riflery instruction, Christie Lee, archery and canoeing is led by Shane King Nappy Danton.

Also on staff full time at the campgrounds is Chuck Fennell, an Emergency Medical Technician.

Orientation to be held

Entry level or Kindergarten orientation will be held at the Nicholas County Elementary School cafeteria on Monday, August 12, at 6:00 p.m.

Teachers will be on hand to explain what is expected of children and their parents.

For those who haven't attended in the necessary paperwork, Mr. Rob Lane, Director of Pupil Personnel, will be there to assist.

Those requirements are: a physical, an immunization certificate, a TB skin test, a valid birth certificate, and a social security number.

Since this is an informative session for parents, teachers are requesting that children not attend.
