NCHS Student speaks out on the issue of a "new" or "renovated" school building

An Opinion
by Megan Metcalfe

Recently there has been talk of a "possible" new high school for the future of NCHS. I'm sure you have all seen articles in the newspapers about this subject. If you're like I was, then you couldn't believe this was being debated so much.

To back you up a little, the LPC you've been seeing in the newspaper is a planning committee that is supposed to meet every five years . The LPC is made up of teachers and other people from the community. The job of the LPC was to design a educational plan that would effect the next 20 years.

The LPC first met on December 31, 1994. They met continuously until the beginning of October. On October 10, 1995 they turned in a plan that 13 out of 15 people agreed to. Their plan suggested separating seventh and eighth grades from the elementary, and making the elementary into a P - 6 school (primary- sixth grades). However, they did not agree in making the high school a 7- 12 school, especially since it is too small already. Their plan was to build a new high school for grades 9- 12 and give the old high school to the 7- 8 grades. The plan stated that there would be four phases in completing this process.

According to Ms. Green, a member of the LPC, the first phase would be the colstruction of part of a new high school. It would include regular class rooms, science technology labs, cafeteria, and library. This would accommodate 400 people for grades 9- 12 initially.

The second phase would consist of the completion of the new high school, including a gymnasium.

The third phase would convert the existing high school into a middle school for grades 7- 8 . This would improve the facility to comply with 20 year life standards.

The fourth and final phase was to renovate the Elementary school to comply with the 20 year life standards.

The LPC researched and studied this plan for almost a full year before turning it in to the Board's consultant. The plan was then supposed to be turned in to the State Board of Education for consideration by December 31, 1995. Mr. Everly said he would do this.

However, in March of 1996 when the plan had still not come back, the LPC started to wonder what had happened. After calling Frankfort, they found out the plan had never reached it's destination. Somehow, the plan had gotten "lost" on the Board's consultant.

Therefore, the Board asked the LPC to reconvene their committee to make sure they still agreed to everything they suggested. The LPC met again and decided they would keep their plan as previously presented.

Unfortunately, for some reason, the board rejected their plan and kept asking them to meet again to see if they wanted to make any changes. The LPC met and voted on their plan four times without making one change.

I spoke with one other member of the LPC whom was Mr. Simons. The last time I spoke to him was on Thursday, September 5. He said that the LPC had met with the Board again on Tuesday, September 3. It was at this meeting that the board handed out copies of their own plan for Nicholas County Schools.

The Board's plan was to keep the schools as they are. They suggested moving 7 and 8 grades up to join the high school. Their plan recommended renovating what we have and not building any new structures. Keep in mind, the board came up with their plan in about two days, while the LPC came up with their plan in one full year.

Needless to say, many LPC members are very upset with the fact that the board does not want to build a new school. However, the Board and LPC are still in decision making. Unfortunately, the time they are wasting is putting us much more behind. The costs expected for a new school in 1995 have already risen by almost $3,000,000 more. So, with the cost of materials rising, NCHS keeps slipping further and further away from a new school.

In my opinion, there seems to be something left unruffled. Why is the Board keeping us from building a new school, especially when they have saved this money for this project over a number of years? This should not have to be debated so much! This is an old school, it's not going to last forever. The number of students attending this school is over the amount it was built for, already.

It's not fair for the Board to keep asking students, teachers and other faculty to do with out technology and a better school when they could give us these things if they just tried.

percent and the number of beef cow replacements - animals that will enter the breeding population soon - dropped by four percent.

"The declines we've seen in the latest reports are probably the beginning of serious liquidation. Cow slaughter has been up 15 to 25 percent in recent months. If that trend continues, expect a market decline in numbers," he said.

Exports of beef are up significantly and that's a good sign for cattle producers. In addition, he said, retail prices are dropping and consumers can really find some bargains in beef.

Producers can expect beef production to remain reasonably steady through 1998, when cattle inventory will decline. And that should improve prices, Meyer said.
