The 1923 Model T Eugene Neal's pride and joy and perhaps the favorite historical piece to be found at his family business, Neal's Square Deal. The car sits starts and the horn works really good. The four cylinder vehicle is just like the kind of car Neal learned to drive as a youth. He bought it from Paul Miller in Lexington in 1959. "It was an antique then, but my, my, my!"

This "sulky" brake car was purchased for "tourism" according to Eugene Neal. "Pretty rough condition," Neal laughed about his car's boast. See the car at Neal's Square Deal, downtown Carlisle.
