Conner earns achievement academy science honor

The United States Achievement Academy announced today that Travis Lee Conner from Bourton Middle School has been named United States National Award Winner in Science. This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes fewer than 10% of all American high school students.

Travis Conner, who attends Bourton County Middle School, was nominated for this national award by Mr. R. McCarty, teacher at the school.

Travis Conner will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, which is published nationally. Recognizing and supporting youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Constantly United States Achievement Academy winners should be recognized and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievements," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, parents and the student. The grandprize is a Petriod of commendation of teachers, coaches, parents and the student.

Travis Conner is the son of Pamela Conner from Paris, Ky. winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, parents and the student. The grandprize is a Petriod of commendation of teachers, coaches, parents and the student.
