what the Nicholas County Friday's annual awards banquet was all about. Awards were just a part of it and cheerleaders received a Head Coach John Norman

Mike Ecton joyfully received his lettered jacket from his mother, Bluejacket Booster President Doris Ecton, at Friday night's banquet.

Coach John Norman and his wife, Charlene, celebrated and shared their 26th wedding anniversary with Bluejackets' parents and cheerleaders as they attended the March 24 annual awards banquet. Daughter Katherine was also in attendance to make it a family event.

gave them an attitude. "You can't get better at playing when you play someone better than you," he said, recalling his experiences as a youth playing basketball. Coach Norman said wins and losses were more than just stats on paper. Some statistics told him, "Coach, I'm not having a very good time with basketball this year." He'd reply that a good time would come once Nicholas beat Bourbon County by 42 points. "What makes it fun is preparation! You've got to get in top physical shape and condition before the game to give the best you can during a performance."

"I'm proud of our basketball players," Coach John Norman Norman finished his talk by stating, "I'm proud of our basketball players. We didn't win as many as you liked and not as many as I liked, but I'm happy to be here at Nicholas County. I'm proud to be your basketball coach and the future looks good."

Cheerleader Co-sponsor Shelly Childron thanked parents and students for their support. "I really appreciate it. It means a great deal. And I appreciate the support of my cheerleaders. We practiced every day from Jan. 6 to Feb. 28. They got out there. Worked hard. And it paid off at competition."

Co-Cheerleader sponsor, Mrs. Katie Hunt, gave the senior recognition award. "This is a little difficult when it's your own daughter," she began. "Hannah, I was very pleased with your efforts. You did a good job as a cheerleader and a daughter. I am also proud of all the other girls."

The Bluejacket Boosters

were recognized for support throughout the season. Booster President Doris Ecton and Diana Phillips represented the Boosters at the banquet. Also honored by Norman were assistant coaches Greg Letcher, John Simmons, and Coach Anderson. Coach Letcher stated, "I've been coaching here 14 years. I think as far as practice, this group of guys worked harder than anyone. We played hard. Practiced hard. We got together and had one of the best junior
