the hard clay in that area was going to be a problem with putting a playground there. The high school is behind the school. City gas lines are in the area, making it impossible to have a playground there in the vicinity. In the meantime, the current playground is too small. Hammons has also heard complaints that children have to cross the blacktopped service road between the school and playground - also a potential safety hazard...

Elementary principal search continues; more interviews Nov. 5

The search for a principal at Nicholas County Elementary School is still ongoing. Acting Principal, Assistant Principal Pam Randolph has said she expects to name a new principal by the end of October. However, she received by The Mercury Tuesday morning the decision making the site board and elementary school at teacher Nicolette Mallory said the council was still interviewing applicants. Mallory said she doesn't know when the selection process will conclude. Site Board Council will select their choice for principal. The Nicholas County Board of Education will give approval.

JMHC moves medical records

The Medical Records Department of Johnson Mathers Health Care has relocated. Josh Shepherd, director of public relations, said medical records has moved from the administrative wing housing Nicholas County Hospital to its original location in the front of the office. The office is open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. This is one of the first steps of the longer process of our renovation project. Shepherd said. The project entails the administrative wing housing Nicholas County Hospital to its original location in the front of the office. The office is open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Student of the Week

Matthew Lawrence

Student of the Week

This week's Student of the Week is Matthew Lawrence. Matthew is a student at Nicholas County High School. He is the son of Rasty and Brenda Lawrence of Carlisle. Matthew was nominated by NCHS teacher James A. Hamm. "Matthew displays outstanding personal character," wrote Hamm on Matthew's nomination sheet. "I enjoyed teaching Matthew very much. I appreciated his humor and his hard work," Hamm added. Matthew is a member of the Nicholas County High School Marching Band, Academic Team, Chess Club. He also enjoys reading. The Carlisle Mercury will profile one student each week, chosen by the faculty of their respective school. Watch this space in future issues.
