Joyce Howard named PVA Deputy of the Year

Joyce Howard was awarded a plaque in recognition of being selected as P.V.A. Deputy of the Year. The award was presented at a luncheon during the P.V.A. Summer Conference at Poduch in July.

Joyce Howard works for the Nicholas County, she helps update the mapping files, rechecks data entry, works in problems with vehicles, and answers questions from property owners, lawyers, appraisers, etc.

Joyce has taken several classes sponsored by the Revenue Cabinet and I.A.A.G. and has received a Certified Kentucky Assessor Certificate. She is currently studying additional courses to receive a Senior Kentucky Assessor Certificate.

Joyce is very knowledgeable about the office duties and tries to do them with a smile.

Kentucky WoolFest Oct. 3-5

Kentucky Wool Fest chosen as one of the top 15 festivals in the state to attend.

This marks the 15th anniversary of the Kentucky Wool Fest at Falmouth on Oct. 3-5.

The Kentucky Tourism Council has chosen the festival as one of the top 15 festivals and events to attend in the state for this fall event.

Visitors to this year's festival will be coming to grounds located in Highway 159, just past Kincaid Lake State Park.

Heritage demonstrations are taking place daily for workshops making spinning and weaving, quilting, loom making, pottery, candlemaking, soap making, quilting, snake tanning, basketry, natural making, leather work, wood carvers, primitive blacksmithing, tin-smithing.

sheep shearing, working sheep dog demonstration, Indian breading, 12 different breeds of sheep and much more.

There are 26 food booths with down home cooking.

Crafters galore! There are 150 craft booths and artisans displaying and selling their works.

As for music, there are two stages filled all three days with country, gospel and bluegrass music.

The Ohio Valley Pioneers will be on hand with 1800 setting and encampments and performances.

Parking is free. Admission to the festival is $3, with those eight and under admitted free.
