

DEC 3 1998

Second bomb threat at courthouse

There was another bomb threat made to the Nicholas County courthouse on Wednesday, Nov. 18.

This made the second bomb threat in three months, as the first one was made in August.

During the first bomb threat, Sheriff Charles Ring and Kentucky State Police Detective Tim Layton in a search of the entire courthouse.

Christmas bazaars net over $3,000

On Friday, Dec. 29, more than 250 people attended the Johnson Matthers Health Care hospital's Christmas Bazaar sponsored by the hospital auxiliary.

Arts, crafts market is Dec. 5 at MSU

Morehead State University's Appalachian Christmas Arts and Crafts Market and Antique Show will be held on Saturday, Dec. 5 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Laughlin Health Building.

JMHC auxiliary to meet Dec. 8

The Johnson Matthers Health Care hospital auxiliary will meet Tuesday, Dec. 8, at 10 a.m. at the jail.

Student athletes receive honors

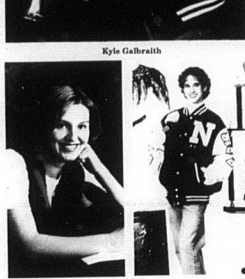

The following students were named Academic All State by the Kentucky High School Athletic Association.

MSU puts dog project to sleep

A controversial research project that tested a new arthritis treatment on dogs, was terminated by Morehead State University on Wednesday.

Kyle Galbraith

Melissa Salvage

Cara Wilson

Local students are in Who's Who

A total of 20 students from Carlisle are included in the 1998 Annual Edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students for 1997-98.

MSU professor gets funds for more cocaine research

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, a professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received $25,000 in grant money from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.

Carlisle students recognized by youth leadership council

By KIM HAMILTON Staff Writer

Several students from Nicholas County High School have been recognized in the 1998 "Youth Salute" by the Central Kentucky Youth Assembly.

The 18th Annual Awards Ceremony was held in their honor earlier this year.

Kyle Galbraith was named top youth leader for Nicholas County and will be eligible for a $500 scholarship and a trip to St. Louis to attend the National Leadership Conference.

River bacteria levels safe in Cave Run lake

By SEAN KELLY Staff Writer

A watchdog group that identified high levels of bacteria from animal and human waste in the Licking River, determined that Rowan County and Cave Run Lake are safe from the problem.

MSU professor gets funds for more cocaine research

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, a professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received $25,000 in grant money from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.

MSU professor gets funds for more cocaine research

By KIM HAMILTON Staff Writer

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, a professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received $25,000 in grant money from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.

Bicentennial afghan is on sale now

The Carlisle-Nicholas County Bicentennial Afghan is available for sale from the Carlisle Community Women's Club.

MSU professor gets funds for more cocaine research

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, a professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received $25,000 in grant money from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.

MSU professor gets funds for more cocaine research

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, a professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received $25,000 in grant money from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.

MSU professor gets funds for more cocaine research

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, a professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received $25,000 in grant money from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.

MSU professor gets funds for more cocaine research

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, a professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received $25,000 in grant money from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.

MSU professor gets funds for more cocaine research

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, a professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received $25,000 in grant money from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.

MSU professor gets funds for more cocaine research

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, a professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received $25,000 in grant money from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.

MSU professor gets funds for more cocaine research

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, a professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received $25,000 in grant money from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.

MSU professor gets funds for more cocaine research

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, a professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received $25,000 in grant money from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.

MSU professor gets funds for more cocaine research

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, a professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received $25,000 in grant money from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.

MSU professor gets funds for more cocaine research

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, a professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received $25,000 in grant money from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.

MSU professor gets funds for more cocaine research

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, a professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received $25,000 in grant money from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.

MSU professor gets funds for more cocaine research

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, a professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received $25,000 in grant money from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.

MSU professor gets funds for more cocaine research

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, a professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received $25,000 in grant money from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.

MSU professor gets funds for more cocaine research

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, a professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received $25,000 in grant money from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.

MSU professor gets funds for more cocaine research

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, a professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received $25,000 in grant money from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.

MSU professor gets funds for more cocaine research

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, a professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received $25,000 in grant money from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.

MSU professor gets funds for more cocaine research

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, a professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received $25,000 in grant money from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.

MSU professor gets funds for more cocaine research

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, a professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received $25,000 in grant money from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.

MSU professor gets funds for more cocaine research

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, a professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received $25,000 in grant money from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.

MSU professor gets funds for more cocaine research

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, a professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received $25,000 in grant money from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.

MSU professor gets funds for more cocaine research

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, a professor of psychology at Morehead State University, has received $25,000 in grant money from the National Institute on Drug Abuse to continue his research on cocaine addiction for the next three years.