Govner Patton proposes new children's health plan

Govner Paul Patton and Secretary of Health Services Cabinet, John H. Morse, today announced funding to provide access for the children of Kentucky's working poor.
"Nothing is more important than our health and that is disability for our children," said Govner Patton. "Proper medical attention during the formative years can be the foundation of a successful and productive adulthood. To help provide health insurance for our children I am requesting $123 million in my budget, which will bring in $50 million in federal dollars."
The 1998 federal budget included $24 billion for the Title XXI Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP).
While Medicaid pays for medical services to children of families below 100% of the poverty level, CHIP is to provide coverage for children between 100% and 200% of the poverty level.
The program allocates $50 million to Kentucky at a reduced match rate of 2:15 state dollars instead of the regular Medicaid match rate of 3:05.
With a match of $13 million in state funds Kentucky will have access to $63 million for the next five years for the Kentucky Children's Health Insurance Program (KCHIP).
Secretary Morse said,
"When children have emergency illnesses or injuries we provide medical care regardless of their ability to pay.
However, when families don't have health insurance, children often do not receive early screening for disabilities, register immunizations, and preventive care that will identify health problems before they worsen. Providing access to this coverage for the working poor not eligible for Medicaid particularly for their children, is an important responsibility that will guide the development of the KCHIP program."
There are several principles that will guide the development of the KCHIP program.
1. It will provide coverage
