Finding scholarship money is getting easier
Did You Know?

If you are seeking scholarship money to help pay for rising college costs, there is excellent help available. Currently, there are nearly 400,000 scholarships and grant sources to help pay for college costs, including tuition and books, textbooks, lab fees, and other expenses. Over 60% of these scholarships do not depend on financial need and many are awarded based on factors such as the student's interests, activities, field of study, age, ethnic background or parent's work or military service.

Now through the resources of the National Academic Fund Advisory (NAFA), an updated publication for 1998-99 is available for all students seeking to receive financial assistance to help pay the cost of college. This new book contains information on how to receive academic funding and how to secure a scholarship award. It also includes information on how to receive academic funding and how to secure a scholarship award. It also includes information on how to receive academic funding and how to secure a scholarship award.
