AG NEWS

Agriculture News: The first taste of fall temperatures were felt throughout the state with windy conditions on the weekend. Temperatures averaged 49 degrees statewide which was 7 degrees below normal and 14 degrees colder than the previous week. Minimal rainfall fell across the state. Days suitable for field-work averaged 5.5 out of a possible six. Crop harvesting continued at a steady pace this week. Other farm activities included wheat and pasture seeding and tobacco stripping. Topsoil moisture as of Friday, October 22, was rated 18 percent very short, 48 percent short, and 34 percent adequate. Subsoil moisture was rated 40 percent very short, 47 percent short, and 13 percent adequate.

Tobacco: As of Sunday, October 24, 19 percent of the burley had been stripped. This compares to 18 percent last year and 17 percent on the average. Reports of color variation and small sized tobacco leaf were received. Condition of stripped tobacco was reported as 1 percent poor, 15 percent poor, 44 percent fair, 31 percent good, and 7 percent excellent.

Corn: Ninety-eight percent of the corn crop was harvested as of Sunday, October 24. This compares to 98 percent the previous year and 83 percent for the five year average. The corn harvest is virtually complete across western Kentucky. The remaining corn fields are located across the Bluegrass region and eastern Kentucky.

Soybeans: Harvesting has advanced 73 percent, compared to 74 percent last year and 48 percent on average. Reporting area 88 percent of late planted beans having short pods with very few beans and still not ready to harvest. Some of the double crop soybean acreage will not be harvested due to poor yields after the early July spell this summer and fall.

Other crops: Winter wheat seeding was 70 percent complete as of Sunday, October 24 compared to 60 percent for the five year average. The condition of the seeded wheat crop was reported as 4 percent poor, 31 percent fair, 58 percent good, and 7 percent excellent. Pasture conditions improved this week and were reported as 15 percent very poor, 35 percent poor, 36 percent fair, 12 percent good, and 2 percent excellent. Cattle continues to be fed due to lack of suitable pasture. Livestock marketing remains brisk as producers are expecting a long feeding season reducing forage availability. One third of the reporters expect hay supplies to be adequate for winter feeding while two thirds expect hay shortages. The major early season activity included insufficient forage supplies for their winter needs.

Eaglestone Farm ranked fourth in Angus

Eaglestone Farm, Carlisle, ranked as fourth largest in registering the most Angus beef cattle in Kentucky having recorded 162 head of Angus with the American Angus Association during fiscal year 1999, which ended September 30, according to Richard L. Spader, association executive vice president.

Angus breeders across the nation in 1999 registered 260,907 of Angus cattle compared to 252,969 in fiscal 1998. This is an increase of more than three percent from a year ago. "Angus registrations for 1999 were the largest in 19 years," Spader said. "This increase, especially in a turbulent agriculture and economic market, indicates that demand for Angus genetics is stronger than it has ever been."

The American Angus Association, headquartered in St. Joseph, Missouri, was founded in 1883. It is the largest beef registry association in the world in terms of both annual registrations and active members.

Wood industry to benefit from grants

Grants totalling $81,950 will be awarded to value-added wood programs across the state in the latest round of funding by the Kentucky Department of Agriculture. The monies are part of a total $1.44 million in Department grants.

"Value-added wood is a growing industry for Kentucky agriculture and is a big part of our state's economy," said Kentucky Agriculture Commissioner Billy Ray Smith. "We feel the grants will have a great impact on the industry, allowing it to expand and create additional jobs for Kentucky as the industry grows."

The Department of Agriculture awarded the grants based on recommendations from its Marketing Development Advisory Board. That board is made up of farmers, representatives from agribusiness, and others. They, along with over 150 committee members, studied the 175 grant applications and approved those projects that they felt were feasible and would add value to agricultural enterprises.

Grants were awarded by the Department to the recipients: Kentucky Wood Products, $35,000; Kentucky Forestry Industry Association, $16,950; and the University of Louisville, $30,000.

"All three grants are important to the value-added wood industry," said John Cotten, Director of the Division of Value-Added Wood." Kentucky Wood Products Competitiveness Corporation is receiving a grant which will assist wood product manufacturers to participate in trade shows as well as offer them representation and marketing assistance, thus creating public awareness and sales for Kentucky wood products.

"The Kentucky Forestry Industry Association, in conjunction with the University of Kentucky, developed a forklift training program to help make lift training for even small producers feasible in order to make them be compliant with new OSHA regulations. Over-the-road training cost producers as much as $00 per operator. Through the development of this training program,, KFIA will be able to make this training available for about $17 per operator.
