My two cents... by Karina Jordan, Editor

As I begin my column again, I hope that our readers enjoy the new look that we have given to the paper this week. After several weeks of looking over my different layout styles across the state, I have chosen to do what you see. This is only one of the many new and exciting things that we hope to bring you each week.

Besides my column and a readers question of the week we also have brought back one of our readers favorite columns of the Mercury Memories. I hope that you keep calling us with what you would like to see in our hometown paper.

I would also like to thank all who have submitted wedding and engagement announcements. This is a free service to all our readers, we don't even charge for the photo.

We also offer free birth announcements, birthday greetings, and many more daily events in your life, and the photos are printed at no charge. So the next time you have a family reunion, dinner on the grounds, or an exciting trip that you have taken, stop by give us the information and we will be glad to run it for you.

Now with my thoughts... as the children are out for spring break enjoy the much needed time off I find myself wondering what to do with the children, since I have to work, all my readers like to see their paper on Thursday's each week. This week I have put in a lot of hours putting together the last minute touches on the paper, my kids have been home running wild, while their father tries to catch some last minute Z's for his night shift job.

My normal weeks usually are filled with all kinds of night activities that I could attend, if I didn't have to rush home to the kids, this week however, I am not in such a big hurry since there is no school and guess what, there are no planned activities.

So I guess the next two weeks I will have to rearrange my schedule to accommodate work and my children, and hope that maybe in about three weeks after all the news meeting that I must attend are over I can take a couple of days off to clean up the house that my husband and children have had complete control over.

I really wonder who benefits from spring break, I know that I will not be able to see several months. So kids, enjoy the trips to Chicago, New York, or where ever else you may be, for one day, read upon the reality of real life will kick in an you'll be sitting behind a desk working that never ending job. Thought of the week "I really enjoy my job. Shouldn't we all be this fortunate."

Letters to the Editor

You may find this letter to be a little different than most letters that are written to the editor. I am not writing this letter to gripe or complain about anything. I am writing this letter to ask help from you and the community.

As you and most members of the community know, this year has been a very exciting year at Nicholas County High School. For the first time in school history, two different sports teams have captured District Championships in the same year.

Since I have been fortunate enough to have been caught up in the middle of both of these occasions, I undertook a project to capitalize on this momentary. I have been researching the history of Nicholas County football, am collecting team pictures, statistics, rosters, schedules, and results from every year football has been in existence at Nicholas County High School. This project is just something that I am trying to do for the community and Nicholas County High School alumni. Most other schools have their records and results compiled somewhere. We do not. So if anyone out there has any helpful information, I would be grateful to have it. If someone could contact me at the Nicholas County High School Computer Lab, 288-3721, I would be more than glad to come and pick up the information from you. Also, you can e-mail the information to me at westmoor.nicholas.k12.ky.us. For anyone that is interested in exactly what I am doing, log on to the Internet and go to www.nicholas.k12.ky.us. Go to Schools -- High School -- Extracurricular -- Sports -- Football. After that, click on the appropriate link at the bottom of the page. If anyone has team pictures, rosters, statistics, and schedules, I would greatly appreciate them. I will return them to you personally after I have used them.
