Seven Steps To A Healthier 2000

"NAPS" is never too late to start a healthy lifestyle. The Cancer Research and Biotechnology Institute suggests these seven steps toward a healthier 2000.

1. Don't smoke - avoid all tobacco including second-hand and chewing tobacco. 2. Eat a diet high in fruit and vegetables with minimal animal products.

3. Exercise regularly - choose a form of exercise that you enjoy and make it part of your routine. 4. Always wear sunscreen all year long - it's known to help reduce the risk of getting skin cancer.

5. Practice safe sex - Human Papillomavirus (HPV), one of the most common sexually transmitted diseases in the U.S., has increased the risk of certain cancers. 6. Get regular cancer screening guidelines.
