

NICHOLAS COUNTY TEACHER HEADS BACK TO SCHOOL...
The Nicholas County School District was represented this summer in Eastern Kentucky University's 14th Writing Project. The local participant was Stephanie Duncan, seated at right, from NCKES. The summer event, funded by grants from the Kentucky Department of Education and the National Writing Project, allows 20 area teachers to attend an intensive four-week course that details new and proven writing strategies for the classroom. One of the goals of school reform in Kentucky is to improve students' writing skills across the curriculum.
