

Tree ID book available

"What Tree is That?", a pocket guide for identifying trees, is available from the National Arbor Day Foundation.

The 72-page guide will help to identify 135 different trees found in the eastern and central U.S.

Well-known trees are included: oaks, maples, spruces and pines. Also species of horsechestnut and mockernut hickory, sassafras, shadbush, persimmon, pawpaw, pagodatree and pecan.

Dozens of drawings illustrate the trees' leaves or needles and their acorns, berries, seed pods, cones and other identifying features. "What Tree is That?" is organized to make it easy to identify trees in a simple step-by-step fashion.

"Helping people enjoy and appreciate trees is central to the education mission of the Arbor Day Foundation," John Rosenow, the foundation's president, said. "Being able to identify trees is important to knowing how to care for them and how to plant the right tree in the right place."

"Good Living" With Arthritis

(NAPS)—Two new, consumer-oriented books published by The Arthritis Foundation are helping people better manage the disease, in concert with their doctor. The books guide people with arthritis to healthier, more fulfilling lives by providing authoritative, comprehensive and practical information.

Reviewed by six of the nation's leading rheumatologists, The Arthritis Foundation's Guide to Good Living with Rheumatoid Arthritis and The Arthritis Foundation's Guide to Good Living with Osteoarthritis take an A-to-Z approach—from the cause and diagnosis to long-term progression and everything in between.

The books provide the latest information on prescription and over-the-counter drugs, questions to ask before surgery, exercises that work, new surgical techniques, alternative therapies that are helpful and those that are harmful, facing disability at work, coping with emotional challenges, self-help resources and much more.
