Did you know that 40 percent of homes in Kentucky rely on septic systems to dispose of their waster to dispose of their waster to the proper disposal of human sewage is necessary to prevent ground and surface water. According to jan article in the New York Times over have been polluted in the United States. Water is a renewed. Groundwater, rivers and streams are our source of dribbling or source waters the more difficult and expensive it is to treat it and make it making sure your septic system is working properly important natural resource. How do septic systems work?

Did you know that a septic system consists of more than just a septic tank? A standard septic system consists of four basic parts: the septic tank, distribution box, drainfield and the soil. Each part has its own special function and each is necessary for the system to
