

Kentucky gas prices climbing, but ...

Kentucky's gas prices have climbed in the past month again, but not nearly as quickly as in most other states, according to AAA Blue Grass Kentucky.

Kentucky's gas prices are a bargain, relatively speaking. The average price for a gallon of self-serve unleaded regular is now $1.34, up 13 cents in the past month. However, Kentucky currently has the eighth cheapest gas prices among the 50 states. A recent surge in gas prices has peaked for now with prices falling back a nickel or more per gallon.

Average prices for key Kentucky cities include Lexington at $1.33, up 11 cents in a month; Louisville, $1.34, up 13 cents; Ashland, $1.34, up 13 cents and Covington, $1.37, up six cents.

With the start of the summer driving season approaching and demand for gasoline rising, it is probable that gasoline prices will continue to increase over the next several weeks. The political upheaval in Venezuela, the number three supplier of crude oil to the U.S., is settling down, but tensions in the Middle East will remain a big factor in future crude oil pricing.

I think music in itself is healing. It's an explosive expression of humanity. It's something we are all touched by. No matter what culture we're from, everyone loves music.

—Billy Joel

New Trends For Fall

INAPS—From the picturesque setting of the Petit Palais in Paris, Maritne and Francois Girbaud presented their fall/winter 2002 collection.

Innovative, artistic and extremely well thought out, the collection features several new and interesting silhouettes for men and women. New for the season are the latest techniques the French duo have incorporate: pressed pleats in leather, cotton and synthetics. The pleating gives the clothing a crumpled, vintage effect without looking as if it's been sitting in your laundry basket for the past week.

Another key element for the collection is a trademark fabric called "Sensitive." This mottled fabric, usually reserved for swimwear, is used in men's pullovers, amonks and blazers.
