Column marks milestone at 1,150 and counting...

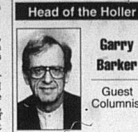

Should anybody besides me really care, this is the 1150th "Head of the Hollar" column. That's a bunch.

About 12 or 13 years worth, and though I've cut down on the output the number keeps creeping upwards.

If you're a faithful reader you already know that I hardly ever actually write about anything in particular, which adds to the difficulty of producing regular columns. It might be easier if there was a purpose.

Maybe. But when and where would I be able to work in my grandson Bradley's succinct comment?

In early January Danetta took the grandchildren to the cemetery to visit my mother's grave. She's buried next to my father, James H., and my brother, Bobby Lee. It took a while to convince Brad and Holly that "James" was actually "Papaw," and that it was ok for him to be there, and to explain the relationship to Bob. When they got home Bradley came straight to me to clear up any possible misunderstandings. "You got no parents," he informed me, "and you're missing a brother!" He hit the nail right on the head. As he tends to do. Family relationships are very important to Bradley, who is the resident expert on everybody's age, and a few years ago he seemed to take some radiatic pleasure in informing me that his father was also my son.

He did not seem to think I knew that before he brought the news.

I have periodically threatened to take Bradley's middle name back, though most of the time he acts as though I am named after him.

We did find further evidence in my mother's papers of the confusion over my own first name: When I started to school I did not know I was "Garry" and didn't answer for a couple of weeks. Obviously the teachers didn't read the paperwork too closely, though, because on the first three years of report cards my name is spelled "Garry."

school I was counted as two students, "T" and "r," and the old Scottish spelling can still cause confusion. I refer all doubters to the postcard on the wall of my home office of "Lech Garry."

I also get lots of mail addressed to "Dr." or "Professor," and while it doesn't make me mad anymore it probably offends the real PhD professors.

I still have trouble answering to "Mr. Barker," because that was my father's name.

For the 1150th time now, I've managed to waste almost 450 words saying absolutely nothing that matters, which may very well be the official definition of a column.

Much ado about nothing. But the guy who wrote that line was a popular playwright, the Tennessee Williams of his day, just a weekly newspaper columnist.

By virtue of a Judgment and Order of Sale of the Nicholas Circuit Court entered in the above styled action on March 20, 2002, and to make enough money to satisfy said judgment lien and costs owed Plaintiff in the amount of $24,363.08, including attorney fees, plus interest in the amount of $6.41 per diem from February 1, 2002, until paid, plus unpaid ad valorem property taxes, plus costs, including costs of sale, and any sums expended by Plaintiff for insurance, ad valorem property taxes or for preservation of subject real estate until date of sale, as is provided in said judgment, the undersigned Master Commissioner will on April 13, 2002, at or about the hour of 10:30 a.m. at the Nicholas County Courthouse door, in Carlisle, Kentucky, offer for sale to the highest and best bidder that property more particularly described as follows:

"A certain lot or parcel of ground lying and being in Nicholas County, Kentucky, and more particularly described as follows:

"Beginning in the margin of Maple, Formerly 2nd Street of said City, thence Westward 150 feet to the corner of Mrs. Lizzie McDaniel (now Russell Shroust); thence Southward with the line of Mrs. Lizzie McDaniel (Russell Shroust) and Mrs. Watson (now C.C. Shroust) 71 feet to the end of fence and in the line of the Parsons lot; thence with the line of parsonage lot eastward 6 feet to a stake; thence at right angles westward 6 feet to a stake in James Alexander's (now Mrs. Myers) line thence with Alexander's (Myers) line eastward 144 feet to the margin of Maple Street (now Broadway); thence with the margin of same northward 73 feet to the beginning"

Being the same property conveyed to Lee Bentz and Edith Bentz, husband and wife, by deed dated February 1, 1972, or record in Deed Book 66, Page 66, in the Nicholas County Clerk's Office.

Upon the sale of the above described property, the purchase price shall be payable as follows: In cash or with a deposit of one-third (1/3) of the purchase price with the balance on a credit of thirty (30) days. If the purchase price is not paid in full, the successful bidder shall give bond with good and sufficient surety for the remaining part of the purchase price; said bond to have the same force and effect as a judgment and to remain in lien on said property bearing interest at the rate of twelve (12%) percent per annum from the date of sale until paid, which bond and accrued interest can be paid before maturity.

Said property shall be sold as a whole "as is" and free and clear of all liens, encumbrances and interests of the parties herein but shall be sold subject to:

(a) 2002 and subsequent ad valorem property taxes which shall be paid by the purchaser;
(b) Legal highways, easements, restrictions and stipulations of record affecting said property, and all governmental laws and regulations affecting same.
(c) Assessments for public improvements levied against the property;
(d) Any state of facts that could be disclosed by an accurate survey or inspection of the property.
(e) Any right of redemption which may exist.

The Court and the Master Commissioner shall not be deemed to have warranted title to any purchaser. Upon the Court's confirmation of the sale and payment in full of the purchase price or execution of the sale bond, the purchaser shall be entitled to possession of the real estate and shall receive a deed to same upon approval of said deed by the Court.

Following sale of the above-described property, the Master Commissioner shall promptly report same to the Court, and said report shall be held over for a period of ten (10) days for confirmation of exceptions. Any person desiring to object or except to the sale shall do so by that time or be forever barred.
