

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor: I would like to take this time to give a great thank you to all the people in our community. When Jaiden had his 4th birthday accident...

While he was in ICA and having the most difficult time he received hundreds of cards and gifts from so many teachers and children at school. The walls in Jaiden's room were covered and if each prayer was added it was not that there had been one blank space.

Thank you and God Bless You. Pamela King, Lydia Jaiden and De'Kain Editor.

Bond's Broadcast

Things are not always how they might appear. I know that most times as we age, and this is true of all generations that it's easy to look at younger generations or generations in some cases...

My prayers will go with you as you join other brave and valiant military personnel in a situation that will bring you to do what you do best - serve your country.

Greetings from Nevada! I hope you are all having a great week. Well, I hope you will all be happy to hear that the babies are feeling much better. They are back to their smiling selves and have been doing wonderfully during the night!

Talkin' From The Mountains

Enough is Enough! WORSE THAN WATER-GATE. Another Bush Administration apology on the rights of the American people and our constitution has been uncovered, and it sounds like a bad movie about corrupt government.

Anybody against spending some of our tax money on helping poor and get a college education? The Bush Administration, with the help of a Republican majority in Congress, changed the formula for college loans and made it just about impossible for some students to go to college.

Steve's Report

Wesley Brewer was a Christmas baby, the second-oldest son of a farming family in rural Idaho. Over the years, he tended to fall the shadow of his taller, more athletic, and better looking older brother, Wesley.

He received training as an Infantryman and was assigned to the 8th Infantry Division. Private Brewer worked hard and was diligent in his duties, demonstrating the same quiet commitment to completing his duties that had marked his life growing up on the farm.
