CANCER
The Cancer Coalition met the first Thursday of each month at noon at the Nicholas County Health Department.

lection is remote, especially if the funds they charge are 50 percent of what they collect and the county gets the problems with the collection agency.

Caswell is employed as a flight operator of the Georgetown-based Transflight Company. When asked if he has any requests from the community, he paused, and then said, "Yes, help the ladies and the families of those that are going to Iraq."

They were very fortunate in that there was a older gentleman who was fishing about 160 yards down stream and he had a cell phone," Booth said.

Loretta Farris, who has beat cancer three times, led the cancer survivor's testimonial and toast. Farris and others who gave emotional testimony said family support and prayer had given them strength and helped them survive.

40 percent of what they collected. "If the agency has to take action to court to collect the funds then they charge 50 percent of what they collect and the county gets the problems with the collection agency."

person Marc McCormick joined Booth, in his praise for Earlywine's quick action in assisting Ellis.

"Both of these officers have been trained extensively in boat operation and water survival," Milligan continued. "The operation is a low quick and dangerous accident on the water can happen even to those who are most prepared. Ellis' life preserver kept him on the surface until we could get to him."

"He's wearing a neck brace, but he is recovering fine according to Booth. Earlywine was working the next day at Cave Run Lake.

"I made my decision when I saw that second plane hit the tower," he said. "I think a lot of us who are in the service made that same decision that day."

"I'm not worried about my self or completing this mission. We'll be fine. Just hope my family is okay while I'm gone," he said. "For me the hardest part will be the mission. It will be that I'm away from my family, but I'm ready to go. I'm looking forward to serving my country and doing my duty and then coming home."

"I would just ask that members of the community try to help out, any family members of the soldiers that are activated. You know, if you live next to a family that has a soldier who is activated, just stop in and ask them what you can do. Little things will be a big help, for instance if the family has a lawn mower, a lawnmower, 2.5% down with approved credit. Call Chad at 859-498-7725, ext. 916, 923.

drive anywhere," he said with infectious laughter and an easy smile. McCormick saw prior service as a benefit and said that experience would help him execute this mission.

"I know how to pack light and live for a long time in a tent. If I have to I know the value of simple things in times like that, things like a tent, a sleeping bag, I've been training for this for 11 years, which is pretty much my whole adult life. I'm actually looking forward to going."

"A community Send Off for the Nicholas County, the public is invited and encouraged to attend.

McCormick was asked if he has any special requests for the community. "I would just ask that members of the community try to help out, any family members of the soldiers that are activated.
