Bluegrass Beacon

Stomach grumbling? It's time for a change, not a pill... Dissatisfaction serves as a necessary component of change.

Bluesgrass Beacon By Jim Waters... Thomas Edison got tired of lighting a candle or filling a lamp with oil just to write a letter.

crecendo of dissatisfaction rises to a high-enough level. It happens. In 2003, the Bowling Green City Commission and its Republican mayor raised the city's occupational tax.

poverty, improve education, and drug use or lower crime rates. Their cost isn't worth it. Still, we often pay it.

Commentator Linda Chavez pointed out in a recent New York Post editorial that the federal government has spent $11 trillion in its 40-year "war on poverty."

Before our founders went to war with King George III, Ben Franklin and others shuttled across the Atlantic to offer countless gestures of diplomacy -- all to avoid the fallout from the charges that would rudely attach itself to the British army's musketeers, cannons and bayonets.

A big chunk of that estate actually got wiped out during the battle of Yorktown when the British General Charles Cornwallis seized it. Nelson ordered his troops to burn it at its Down came Nelson's home.

General Petreaux, as hard as he tried to be a good soldier and say just what Commander Bush wanted, we must now demonstrate to the rest of the world that we realize we were led astray by the Bush-Cheney regime.
