NICHOLAS NEWS TRIANGLE HEADQUARTERS-SALTWELL-BARTERVILLE

A member of the Saltwell United Methodist Church, Nicholas Feibach, has been busy in that community with newsletters and fundraisers trying to help increase their attendance. Maybe our rural churches could learn a lesson from her. Ms. Alberta Glass visited Ms. Esther Schwartz in the hospital on Thursday and also visited Mildred Green, Francis Brodrick, and Peg Livingston at Johnson's Mothers Health Care. ... Chad Ockerman has also been invited to spend two weeks in Washington D.C. for a "National Forum on Medicine." It is a great honor to be invited, but even with plane tickets being furnished, food and housing, maybe Chad plans to study "Molecular Genetics" hoping to find some new information or cure for diseases and disorders that have so far had very little research. I believe he will succeed. I would brag on him even if his worst my grandson. The Little League and Minor League baseball players had their annual parade at the beginning of the season last Saturday. I know Head Adams and many others were present. I don't know the planned Methodists Women's Spiritual Growth Retreat on Saturday at Mead United Methodist Church at Russell, Ky nor Ashland, Sharon is the president of the district. ... Rev. and Mrs. Vernon Adams, and many others enjoyed a dinner and party for the 7th birthday of Seth Adams Cameron on Saturday in Paris at the home of Billy and Dawn Adams Cameron. He received many gifts. His grandmother Sue had made two kinds of homemade ice cream. Games were played. ... Phillis Brady visited Mr. Daley Kennedy at Grand Haven Health Care and Ms. Sarah Harp, 92, at Edgemont Manor Health Care. She is a long time friend of all the Doyle family and entered their following his surgery. Phillis also visited Jerry Nolan there and visited one of her brothers, David and Doris Doyle and Donnie and Melba Doyle at their homes.
