Marine hero to be honored

By Charles Mattox News Editor

Some say it was the photograph that helped end World War II. Others say it has become the iconic symbol of the United States Marine Corp.

first squad of the third platoon of Echo Company (later called Easy Company) 2nd Regiment, 5th Marine Division, fought tenaciously during the 36-day long battle to control Iwo Jima.

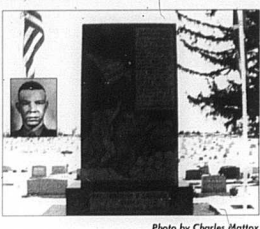

Photo by Charles Mattox The grave marker of Marine Pfc. Franklin R. Souley is located in Elizaville Cemetery at the head of the grave of the young Fleming County Marine who helped raise the American flag over Iwo Jima near the conclusion of WW II. Souley was killed before the 37-day-long battle to secure the island was over. Souley is seen the second from the left on the iconic image of the flag raising.

The US Government netted over $220 million as a result of the war bond drive. Of the six men who participated that historic raising of the flag, only three survived the battle.

Franklin was not only dutiful on the farm, but was a well-respected athlete who enjoyed playing basketball and baseball. He was also an avid swimmer and he and his many friends often went "skinny-dipping" in the Licking River near Milltown.
