GENERAL NEWS

Charges Continued from Page 1. Layne testified that his investigation, which included interviews with the juvenile, indicated that the two were in possession of two metal bars they may have used to assist in toppling the monuments...

Robinson was hesitant to participate but did later join in with toppling and damaging tombstones and grave markers. Layne also testified about his interview with Robinson after the crimes. Layne said he was very forthcoming. Layne said and added that Robinson seemed to be very confident about the facts.

Robinson appeared before Honorable Judge Jay Delaney and entered a not guilty plea during his Jan. 2 arraignment in Nicholas District Court. Delaney ordered Robinson's initial bond of $15,000 cash to be modified to $25,000, with ten percent ($2,500) being authorized for bail.

SCALF Continued from Page 5. The longer we talked and the more Mom described the entire process - from losing the lump nearly 18 months earlier, to finally receiving the diagnosis...

WOMEN Continued from Page 1. Myers' attorney, Raymond Bogucki, said Myers, who is driving the 2001 Grand Prix, "did not seem to be intoxicated" when asked by Bogucki. But Brockman did say that a 16-ounce bottle of fuzzy navel and two coffee mugs containing the suspected alcoholic beverage were found in the vehicle...

Robinson's attorney, Public Defender Jennifer Wittmeier, established through her cross-examination of Sgt. Layne, that the juvenile had never been incarcerated. Since his incarceration, Brockman said Myers, who is driving the 2001 Grand Prix, "did not seem to be intoxicated" when asked by Bogucki. But Brockman did say that a 16-ounce bottle of fuzzy navel and two coffee mugs containing the suspected alcoholic beverage were found in the vehicle...

My heart ached with grief for her. For a moment, all I could manage to utter was, "Oh, Mom..." as tears welled up in my eyes. Cancer is such a terrifying word. My instant reaction was "I'm going to lose my mom." When she announced that she has cancer, it felt the same as if she had said, "I'm dying." The logical part of my mind tried to reassure me that there has been significant progress in cancer research and treatment over the past few decades and maybe Mom would be OK. But there is something about that big, every C-word that makes us automatically assume the worst.

Yes, the cancer statistics are not there still enough time to let Mom know what she means to me and how much I love her. No definitive answer was reached as to ownership of a "diaper bag" which contained some of the drugs, although Elkins did illicit from Brockman after several probing questions. Myers had been the person that had eventually picked the bag up from police custody after her arrest. Judge Probus ruled that since the hearing was "a probable cause hearing" he had established and ordered the charges against Myers and Adkins bound over to the grand jury. Drug charges against Kris Walker, 19, of Carlisle were also bound over to the grand jury after Walker waived his right to a preliminary hearing. Walker is charged with two counts of possession of a controlled substance and two counts of possession of a controlled substance and possession of drug paraphernalia. He is charged with taking prescription medication from family members, according to court documents. Carlisle Police Officer Brad Weaver, who arrested Walker, was prepared to testify for the Commonwealth during the hearing but was not required to do so when Walker waived his rights to the hearing.

BEAUMAN STATE REPRESENTATIVE advertisement. We want to thank everyone for their attention and effort in the special election. We are pleased to have been given the opportunity to run in this campaign. We are also delighted in the fact that the campaign gave all voters the chance to have a voice in the election of our State Representative. In this country we elect our legislators to serve; our legislators are not appointed nor should they be selected by a privileged few. All members of our community were given the opportunity to participate in the selection of our representative and in any small way that we may have contributed to our great American way of life we are very proud. We also want to publicly express what we shared privately with Sannie Overly and her husband Michael: we congratulate you and wish you both all the best. Serving as our representative in four counties while maintaining a full professional and personal life would have been very challenging no matter who was elected. We know the time constraints and pressures of this new found schedule for you will require great discipline and we offer our thoughts and prayers for you and the girls. To all our friends and supporters, once again you have humbled us with your tireless dedication. We cannot express enough how much we appreciate your words of encouragement and hard work. It would truly have been an honor to have served you in Frankfort. We should not be troubled by the outcome but instead look to other ways in which to continue to emphasize and illustrate our thoughts and ideas. We have completed this campaign with the same integrity and character our parents instilled in us, not resorting to tasteless tactics that mar other political campaigns. As we have been so highly taught, what good is it for a man to gain the whole world but lose his soul? In some way, let us hope others across Kentucky may take something positive from this effort. There is no way to know what the future may hold for any of us. We look forward to continuing to remain active in our work, schools, church and our local activities. Whenever this community should see the need to call upon us in the future, we stand ready and willing to answer.
