Thoughts from... the Pastor's Study

By Adam Schell
Carlsle First Baptist

Do you remember what it was like to be a kid? I assure you that life for us when we were kids was much more fun. We had fewer responsibilities; let's face it, nine-year-olds don't have to worry about the mortgage payment or gas prices. There was a lot more to life when we were kids. If you don't believe me, just try chasing a toddler all day. There was also a passion for life that was a part of us as we grew up. As our childhood turned into our teenage years and then adulthood we've all become more cynical. It is no longer that exciting for us to find a frog, bear a new song, or even play a game.

I was reminded earlier this week about just how special it is to be a child. You see I just got back from a trip to a Christian kids camp called Crossings. During the three days I spent at camp I had the opportunity to spend time with eighteen children from my church, and this community. I have to admit that I had a great time. I had the chance to watch, as these kids grew excited when they found frogs around our cabins. I had the chance to see them jump up and down as they sang out new songs. I had the chance to observe them as they played new games. I even had the chance to jump in a giant mud pit and play along with them. Most of all I had the chance to get to know them as the people they are.

I have to admit that I had the greatest time we spent at camp. I was a bit envious of these children. I wished I had their energy as I trudged my way up hill after hill at camp. I wished I had their innocence as they sat and heard Bible stories. But I also couldn't help but think about the downside of being a kid.

So I'll ask you again, do you remember what it was like to be a kid? Do you remember when everyone else got to tell you what you had to do? I just want a whole lot of fun having grown up telling you to pick up your clothes, or to brush your teeth, or to clean your plate. Or do you remember what it was like when you respected what you said? No one likes to have their thoughts, feelings, or ideas looked down on. Yet sadly, this is what it means to be a kid in our world. Many children get teased around wherever they go. Parents tell them what to do at home. Teachers tell them how to act at school. And we Christians tell them how they are supposed to behave when they are at church.

For some reason we have forgotten the passage in Matthew 18 where the disciples are arguing over who will be the greatest in the Kingdom of Heaven. Jesus tells them, "Unless you turn from your sin and become as little children, you will never enter into the Kingdom of Heaven." Therefore, anyone who becomes as humble as this little child is the greatest in the Kingdom of Heaven. And anyone who welcomes a little child like this on my behalf is welcoming me. (Matthew 18: 3-5 NLT).

I think it is about time that the church embraces the children in our own community, as well as this community, and begins treating them like they truly are children of God.

We should take the time to get to know them and to learn from them, instead of assuming that we have nothing to gain from our kids. The truth is that if we actually take the time to let our children teach us, we might just encounter more of the Kingdom of God.

So let's stop treating our children like afterthoughts in our churches, or like they are second-class citizens. Children are an amazing gift from God. Their innocence and passion should inspire us all. And after watching these kids worship this past week at camp, I am convinced that heaven is going to be filled with the excitement and jumping up and down that these children displayed rather than the reserved contemplative worship I see so much of our churches.

Let me encourage you to think back to what it was like to be a child. Remember the energy, the passion, and the innocence that they allow these memories to change your life. And never stop welcoming children, because as you welcome them you welcome the Kingdom of God.
