including the commander of the force, John Todd, and the second in command, Steven Trigg, were killed with approximately 65 of their companions during the battle. Among the enlisted men killed was Israel Boone, the eldest living son of Daniel Boone.

The battle lasted only a few minutes before a retreat was ordered.

Native American demonstrations and primitive acts, along with singing and dancing and other activities, will be held at the park throughout the weekend.

"This will be the fullest spectacle we've ever had," Tierney said of all the activities and events.

A fee of $5 for ages 13 and above will be charged for the fee will allow guests access to all of the park's facilities at no cost.

"It's a heck of a bargain," Tierney said. "Folks can enjoy swimming, visiting the museum, playing Putt 'n' Putt golf and so much more."

already being drilling. The only one of Lan- dorf's ideas that actually makes sense is his proposal to increase research for clean coal technology. But this leads to one simple question: How does Bruce Lanford intend to move the idea forward against the will of his own party? Remember Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid's infamous recent quote, "Coal makes me sick."

The truth is that liberal Washington Democrats have coal, and with it Kentucky, in their cross-hair. Powerful forces are working to snuff out fossil fuels completely. Well-meaning environmentalists are unwittingly increasing Al Gore's green hedge fund bottom line while being fee will allow guests access to all of the park's facilities at no cost.

an increase in foreclosure and excess of foreclosed homes. If you or someone you know is having trouble with their mortgage, please act now. Foreclosure is costly and time-consuming for everyone involved, so many people are unwilling to work out an alternative. I encourage you to call 888-955-HOPE today or call my Fort Mitchell office at 809-426-0080 to find out what options are available.
