A Carlisle man arrested in July and charged with trafficking in drugs will have a preliminary hearing in Nicholas District Court March 26.

Nicholas County Deputy Sheriff Bennie Buckler arrested Jesse Edmund Wilson, 25, at one minute after midnight in the extreme early morning of July 26 in Carlisle.

According to Wilson's arrest citation, he was charged with trafficking in a controlled substance, first degree, after having been under surveillance by officers with the Nicholas County Sheriff's Department.

The citation states that officers with the sheriff's department received information from a "reliable confidential informant" that Wilson had returned from Florida with controlled substances.

Buckler observed Wilson with a backpack entering a vehicle on Mulberry Street in Carlisle. Buckler stated on the citation that he saw a straw sticking out of the backpack that had "powder residue" on it. A subsequent search of the backpack revealed, "a large sum of cash and three baggies containing hundreds of pills", according to the citation.
