Good samaritan injured in accident

A Nicholas County "Good Samaritan" was injured while helping a motorist along US 68 May 2.

Mike Jones, 60, who lives along US 68 near the intersection of Ky. 1244, Barterville Road, left his home Friday afternoon at approximately 3:30 p.m. to assist Wayne Browning, of Rose Hill, who's 1994 Ford Pickup had engine problems and was stopped across the road in front of the Jones' home very near Ky. 1244.

According to Nichola's County Sheriff Dick Garrett, who continues to investigate the bizarre series of events, Jones crawled beneath the Browning truck to attach a chain to it so another vehicle could tow it up Barterville Road.

As Jones was attaching the chain, the truck slowly began to roll, as it was parked at a slight angle facing toward a small slope along US 68. The truck continued rolling and Jones could not slide back from beneath the truck and was soon dragged beneath the truck down the hill before the truck came to rest near a rock wall.

Nicholas County Firefighters, ambulance personnel and Sheriff Garrett joined Carlisle Police Officer Darrell Lane at the scene and soon extracted Jones from beneath the truck. Jones was quickly taken by ambulance to Bourbon County Hospital before being transferred to the University of Kentucky Medical Center with injuries to both legs, according to Garrett.

Editor:

I am writing this letter regarding the troops, which recently returned to Carlisle from their tour of duty. It was just brought to my attention that there was no real support from our community to welcome these boys home. According to one of the family members of one of these soldiers, other adjoining counties had signs posted in many locations to welcome these boys home and to let them know that they are appreciated for serving our country. There were no signs posted in Carlisle or even in Nicholas County on their route home to say "Thank You and Welcome Home". Of all places, there should have been a sign at the National Guard Armory. I feel that this community should pull together and do a better job at showing our neighbors that we do appreciate them. I feel that our city and county officials should be more involved with this show of appreciation. There could have been a sign posted at the courthouse or hanging above Main Street. Maybe these city and county officials should begin a committee of sorts to arrange for such occasions. This is the "town with not much of a heart".

I am guilty of this myself. I do not have a family member in the armed forces but I do know some of these young people and I regret not showing them my appreciation. Now I would like to do so.

"To all those men and women who have given their lives to defend our country, THANK YOU AND GOD BLESS YOU". I am sorry this is a little late, but I am sincere.

Sincerely,

Cynthia A. Hammonds

by internet predators; state hiring preferences for military personnel; state park privileges for disabled veterans; pay equity for women; and restoration of voting rights for non-violent nonsexual felons who have fully paid their debt to society.

Fortunately, the Senate accepted several of the House's other important bills, including requiring booster seats for small children, tax credits for energy efficient homes and appliances, planning of a statewide trauma care system, and protections of our schoolchildren against bullying. And thanks to the House, Kentuckians will receive more life-saving mammograms and colorectal cancer screenings. If you look down the list of significant legislation which will improve the lives of ordinary Kentuckians, you will see that the vast majority are House bills.

In Kentucky, as in most states, we have a bicameral Legislature. Consequently, the creativity and courage of only one chamber are not enough to pass legislation. But I can assure you that the Kentucky House will continue to send good bills to the Senate and to reject ill-considered Senate proposals. And we will continue to pursue the goals, values, and priorities which improve the lives of all Kentuckians.
