NICHOLAS NEWS TRIANGLE HEADQUARTERS-SALTWELL-BARTERVILLE

By Ramona Holler George 859-289-1180 ramholl@bellsouth.net
Paula and Linda Story, who grew up in Headquarters, but now live in Lexington visited Fred Holler last Wednesday night at Johnson Mathers Health Care.

Baths and magnets of Bird House visited by Billy and Margaret Florence in Paris on Sunday night. The Tuesday night prayer, Bible Study, and singing of the old hymns with the residents at Johnson Mathers Health Care met in the lobby at 6:30. There is usually large numbers attend but last week we didn't have very many.

Ramona George visited her son Michael Sewell on Friday. We celebrated Mothers Day a little early. Stephanie Sewell and Samantha Sewell visited Bill and Ramona George and Steve and Barbara on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beckett of Headquarters enjoyed a Mother-Daughter Banquet with Sharon Doyle Riggle at the Robinson Christian Church last Sunday.

Gifts of flowers and small books were presented to all the winners at the Headquarters Methodist Church on Mothers Day. The Saltwell United Methodist Women had their Mother-Daughter Banquet on Monday night at their church with around 30 attending. Joyce Smith and others gave a nice program. The Ellenville Homemakers met on Wednesday at "Tracks" for their meeting. Phyllis Brady read a devotional first, reading from Proverbs which tells about a virtuous woman, then read a poem about her Mother from the and a sister wrote and showed as which was Bird House everywhere and tiny Bird brought to give children in the hospital. Several announcements were given. The annual county meeting is June 16 at Blue Lake. Patsy Simons, Faye Buzzard and Kim Lezer is attending the State Meeting in Louisville, Monday through Thursday, this week. Melinda Sobel had several ladies at her home on Tuesday night for a "Cookie Lo" jewelry party on by Sue Neal from Cynthiana. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Doyle cooked for about 40 workmen of The World Representatives at the camp in Fayette County one day last week. It was a "Work Day" trying to get a lot of spring chores done. Mr. and Mrs. Bobby G. Brady enjoyed the North Middletown Horse Show on Saturday afternoon and night. Carroll Doyle showed 3 horses he trained and received two first places and a third place in championship class. One he won on belongs to Dr. Allen and Ann Hamon. Nicholas County was represented well with Sharkey and Treva. Jessica McKee and Treva, Jessica McKee and Treva, both showed well. Treva won a first place and also Mom, but all did well. Sharon Doyle Riggle and family had dinner Sunday for her parents, Charles and Shelby Doyle and many others for Mothers Day.

A reception was held Sunday at Mathers Health Care for all the Mothers to honor their day. Phyllis Brady enjoyed another of the plays last week at Roka Theatre, Cynthiana. This one was "Enchanted Sleeping Beauty". It is fascinating to see and hear the talent of children, teenagers and few adults as they perform in acting, singing etc. all under the direction of Pat Gerard. An estimated 3,000 people attended the event consuming 1,254 fish sandwiches and 1,200 hotdogs in the process according to concession attenders.

The Kentucky Hospital Association presented community Service Awards Monday night in Lexington with Charles Cox and Jack T. Morford, both being honored for their noteworthy service to the community.
