Lady Jackets update

NICHOLAS NEWS TRIANGLE HEADQUARTERS SALTWELL-BARTTVILLE

By Ramona Hollar George 859-4118 rhg@carlislemercury.com

Our communities, as well as the whole county enjoyed Saturday in Carlisle. A variety of activities to please a variety of people could be found.

Mrs. Robbie Small of Indianapolis, Indiana, spent every last week of the year preceded in death by her husband Mr. Rowan Jenkins by a few months. She leaves many friends and family members in Nicholas County, especially the Rose Hill Community.

Ms. Elizabeth Wilcoxson had a birthday party at Johnson Matthers Health Care on Sunday afternoon for her 93rd birthday. Her sister Ms. Margaret Florence of Paris, who will be 95 on Oct. 18, helped her celebrate, along with a large crowd of family and friends. The party was given by Ms. Wilcoxson's daughter Fay Kimes.

Ms. Faye Buzzard of Mt. Marsh Road had surgery last Monday at Harrison Memorial Hospital. She has returned home.

Billy and Ramona George enjoyed a cookout at the home of Mike and Stephanie Sewell on Sunday night.

It is rather sad to see the old Headquarters School gone. Terrible winds damaged it two different times and now Phillip McDonald, owner, has finished tearing it down. Several people wanted a brick from it. Luckily, Phillip found a metal box time capsule in top of the old gym that contained a Bible, a couple of old newspapers, and a few other things. The box is on display at the Neal building and other artifacts and memorabilia of Headquarters.

Many of the Doyle family were among a large crowd attending the Homecoming and "Dedication" at the Indian Creek Baptist Church last Sunday. So many improvements have been made in the last year or more. A new roof, vinyl siding, new windows, gutters, shutters, two small Sunday school rooms and a bathroom, painting, repairs done had wall down to the log, etc. Donnie Doyle was instrumental in getting most of this done and also Charles and Jeff, and other.

It is the oldest church west of the Allegheny Mountains still in service, but it used to be only once a month for years, but on by members of other churches, until in 2002 when the New Founding Members were Rev. Tom and Linda Moore, Wilson Matthes and Jeff Doyle. Also a better piano and organ have been donated. God would be well pleased. The attendance now has reached around 30.

Phyllis and Rita Mattox of the House of Prayer on Calcutta Road entertain about 40 people with a wine-and-music, and by-nder. The 1st Christian Church of Carlisle had the 130 service at the Johnson Matthers Health Care on Sunday afternoon.

In the eighth grade game the Lady Jackets were defeated by the Lady Panthers. Jessica Matthews led the Jackets with 21 points, Elizabeth Johnson 8 points, Shelly Wade 5 points, Shannon Bretz hit a three, Megan Bretz contributed with a jump shot while Kaitlyn Wade had a free throw bringing the score 50-40.

On Wednesday the girls traveled to Flemington and met up with the Lady Panthers. The seventh grade girls fell to the Lady Panthers 33-21. Megan Bretz led the Jackets with 17 points, Shamus Mitchell added 6 points while Whitney Willoughby contributed 5 points, and Lakyn Jolly followed with 2 points. Eighth grade girls were defeated by the Lady Panthers

32-24. Kaitlyn Bach led with 7 points, Elizabeth Johnson and Shelly Wade with 6 points, and Reese Martin added 5 points to the score. Saturday the Lady Jackets met with the Burgin Lady Bulldogs 29-26. Whitney Willoughby led the Jackets with 17 points, Megan Bretz with 10 points, and Lakyn Jolly followed with 2 points. Eighth grade Lady Jackets defeated the Lady Bulldogs, with Reese Martin leading the Lady Jackets with 15 points, Elizabeth Johnson contributed 9 points, Shannon Bretz and Kaitlyn Bach added four points each to bring the Lady Jackets to victory 36-33. The Lady Jackets will play Deming Devils on Tuesday, then travel to Augusta on Wednesday, and return home to the home court on Thursday against Lakeside.

But is he safe? Ten Leitch puts his whole heart into the game - and his face, too. And yes, this dramatic slide into first base paid off. He was safe. This is the kind of play that makes Mommy cringe and Daddy beam with pride.

Senior Trip goes to New York

By Tobias Hemmert Student Staff Writer

Next spring break, 42 senior students of Nicholas County High School will set out on a several-hour bus ride to see the White House, the Broadway way and many more of New York City's places. "It is always a lot of fun," said Ms. Allison, who teaches Biology at Nicholas County High School and organizes the Senior Trip. She said that the students would have a full program. Last year, for example, besides all the sights such as the White House or the Empire State Building, the group went out to watch a Broadway play. "We keep the students busy," said Ms. Allison.

The students will stay at the Sheraton Hotel in New Jersey right outside New York City for three nights. It costs about 800 dollars, but the participants had the possibility to fundraise and sell candles to decrease the costs. This will already be the fourth annual Senior Trip to New York. According to Ms. Allison, Ms. Hale, Ms. Miller, Mr. Orzain and herself will lead the group and they are still looking for one more teacher to accompany them.
