Rawlings recovers

A man injured in a single vehicle accident Oct. 8 has returned home and is recovering.

Charles "Toad" Rawlings, 82, received a deep cut to his head and other contusions as a result of an accident Oct. 8 on Old Paris Pike.

Rawlings lost control of his 1990 Ford Ranger in a curve due to slippery road conditions.

"We haven't had any rain in a while, and that made for a slick road," Nicholas

Rawlings praised the efforts of emergency responders and family members who say he is healing at home.

Right off the Page

The novel The Bastard's Mother by J.C. Nicholson was one that I found to be interesting and would recommend that it be read by all.

J.C. Nicholson is a native from Western Massachusetts, in her earlier years she focused on raising a family and writing. After the children left the home she moved to Southern California to start her own business on a paper to begin her novels. When Nicholson is not writing she enjoys spending time with her family and traveling to see other family members and scenery.

In the novel The Bastard's Mother, Liberty Lamb lives in Southern California and is about to write a novel when she learns her daughter, an only child, is missing. After filing a Missing Person report, she receives a call from a detective in a town outside of Las Vegas, asking her to identify the body of a woman found in his jurisdiction. John Hatcher is known for his backbone and determination. He's also known for having had more than his share of women. On the other hand, Liberty has a few problems of her own like a bad case of misplaced emotions, sexuality, and lack of direction. This just might be as well if anyone would like to enjoy a fantastic read.
