Little Beth and the Snow Angel
By; Sandy Winnette

This is an enchanting, magical and funny story that will tickle the imagination. Children smile with surprise when little Beth's snow angel who comes to life!

This is a true storybook, with two adventures of little Beth and her snow angel, an additional adventure about the snow angel and Mac the Mouse, and some sing-a-long rhymes in the back for the seasons.

Inside the front cover, there is a convenient gift page for you to write in your recipient.

Here is the sing a-long from the back cover: It's a snow angel Christmas at our house, our yard is a blanket of snow. The kids are out making angels, and inside our house is a home. Well, it's a snow angel Christmas at our house; so, sing a-long with me. Let's sing out to all angels. Bless earth's family.

Heaven's angels hear our singing and look around to see. Soon all of heaven is singing with all earth's family. It's a snow angel Christmas at our house. Our yard is a blanket of snow. The kids are out making angels, and inside our house is a home. It's a snow angel Christmas at our house. This book is the perfect gift for angel lovers, and for everyone who has been a child and seen magic in the snow.

This book is one that if you made snow angels in you childhood time will bring back those memories.

While reading this book, I could see the snow angels that my brother and I made when we were younger and the snow cream that we made at my grandmother's house. Those were the good old days.

Children don't play in the snow anymore like the way the kids did when we were younger. The snowfall amounts have decreased over the years compared when I was about six or seven. I remember there being several inches of snow and we would build snowmen, make snow angels, snow cream and even snowball fights.

Things have changed but with reading this novel brought back some pleasant memories for me. I could feel the snow and cold air while reading Snow angel.

I would recommend this novel to be read by all ages, and parents reading this to your child will bring in excitement, and curiosity to your child and family. With winter coming on I would recommend that everyone pick up this novel and read it so they will be prepared for a snow and want to go out side to make the snow angels that our loved ones once made years ago.

A copy of this book can be found at the public library. If you have any comments or questions contact me at Melissa@thecarlislemercury.com.

Until next time, happy reading.

Cinderella stories exchanged revealing gifts.

October meeting will be Oct. 2 at the Library with Luann Kelly as hostess.

ist. It is a nice trick if you can do it. It is like saying: "Cure your headache by cutting off your head." Or, it is like the parent whose child was in another room where she could not see him. She knew he must be up to some mischief, so she yelled to him from the kitchen: "John, whatever you are doing, stop it!

Yet, Paul says followers of Christ are still human. Such followers are subject to doing acts they do not wish. As Paul states: I can will what is right, but I cannot do it. I do not do the good I want, but the evil I do not want is what I do. So what are we to do?

The better answer lies in self-fulfillment. Christ came to fulfill the law, and to confirm our humanity, not deny it or succumb to it. The answer is to pull our passions together and use them to serve God, others, and ourselves. Jesus the Christ had wild horses within him, just as we do; but he neither denied the passions nor let them go free. Instead, with the strength of God's grace, he calls us to tame our horses in service to God. "Great sinners and great saints are made from the same stuff."

God in Christ offers us neither an opiate nor a form of endless free expression. He calls us with our passions, just as he called a zealot and used his revolutionary passion to turn the world upside down in non-violent, and loving ways. God in Christ calls us not to deny our humanity, but to rejoice in it. Use the passions within us, not letting the wild horses run free, nor letting the horses kill the riders, but taming and harnessing the horses to good use for God, others, and ourselves.

How do you make such a great leap? It requires commitment. It requires acknowledging you will fail at times, and to learn and grow from those experiences. To make a leap of using your instincts and passions to fulfill your love for God, others, and yourself, means you take stock of where and who you are. Take a long look in the mirror. Take a fearless moral inventory. Then promise yourself to change what needs to be changed, asking for God's help who is the only one who has the strength to help us.

How did I run the New York City marathon twice, and the Columbus marathon once? I took a long look at myself, and trained where I was week, and then I asked for God's strength. Finally, I took off and ran the races. Let us do the same with our lives. Let us commit ourselves to taming our untamed impulses by the grace of God, then even when we fall down, get up the next day, start over, and be the human being God in Christ calls you and all of us to be.

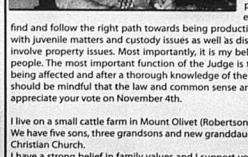
RAYMOND S. BOGUCKI



My name is Raymond Bogucki and I am a candidate for Family Court Judge in the Circuit which encompasses Harrison, Nicholas, Pendleton and Robertson counties. There are many duties and responsibilities that go with this job. I have chosen to run for the position because I believe that I can retain the programs started by the previous Court and implement new programs which will further enhance the ability of our youth to find and follow the right path towards being productive adults. The Family Court deals with juvenile matters and custody issues as well as dissolution of marriage cases which involve property issues. Most importantly, it is my belief that the court belongs to the people. The most important function of the Judge is to listen to those whose lives are being affected and after a thorough knowledge of the facts to apply the law. The Judge should be mindful that the law and common sense are not mutually exclusive. I would appreciate your vote on November 4th.

I live on a small cattle farm in Mount Olivet (Robertson County) with my wife Stephanie. We have five sons, three grandsons and new granddaughter. We attend the Kentontown Christian Church.
I have a strong belief in family values and I support youth activities and involvement in school, church and sports.

The Exhibit Hall at West End Park was nearly filled on Tuesday night for the 4-H and FFA Livestock show and sale. The Homemakers, mostly Ellisville had supper for everyone for there. The children can be proud of, for the way they raise and care for and handle their steers, sheep and hogs.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Doyle helped make many improvements to the Woodmen of the World Camp near Lexington about 5 days last week. They help paint; pour new sidewalks put up railing etc. They also help prepare the meal 2 nights to around 40 people. Donnie Doyle helped two days. All volunteer.

Prayers and Get Well wishes go to Alton Livingood who had major surgery at Harrison Memorial hospital on Tuesday. As of this writing he is still a patient there.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lee Feeback spent last Friday and Saturday with their daughter, Nannette and Weston Leonard in Kingsport, Tennessee. Also Sharon's sister, Evan and Kenneth Walter from Cheshire, Connecticut spent 4 days with Sharon and Harry last week and also another sister, Jo and Jerry Hardin form Oakdale, Tennessee spent a Wednesday with them.

A good crowd attended a bridal shower on Sunday afternoon for Stephanie Jo Riggle and Michael Thomas held at Shelby and Charles Doyle's she is the daughter of Sharon Doyle Riggle and Willie. Cute games were played and such nice prizes were given. (Some of Bridget Davis' May Kay products) beautiful cake and punch were served and she received many gifts and cards. This was her second shower and she is to have two more. It was given by Bridget Doyle Davis and others.

Get well wishes go to John Brady, Headquarters Road, who is not well. He was in the V.A. hospital last week and has to go back for a procedure this week and then later another test. He and wife Shelia has now both retried.

The Ellisville Homemakers met at the basement of the Library on Wednesday for their first regular meeting of the year which is from Sept. through June. Many things were discussed. Phyllis Brady devotional leader, read a poem and another reading about children and gave Bible verses and talked about children.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Donnie Fryman, wife of Lowell Fryman of Dogwalk Road who passed away on Saturday. She'll be missed so much by children and grandchildren who depended on her love and caring and cooking etc. They helped raise other children also and she worked for Clay's Tobacco Seed for a long time and one of the highlights of life was watching Kim Denkins play basketball most of her school year including U.K.

Don Adams and cousin Phyllis Brady enjoyed something Saturday night that they'd never seen anything like it before at Legion Park, Paris, it was called "Wild Horse Ministries" Paul Dailey from Louisiana, completely broke a horse in two hours to ride and as he was telling everything he was doing he was also preaching a message about how life, He goes thousands of miles each year doing this with people unbroken horses. It was very impressive.

Phyllis Brady attended a Party lite candle party on Thursday night in Paris at the home of Peggy Adams Tracy. It was put on by another cousin Nickie Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Doyle enjoyed two Pig and Shrimp Suppers at the Elyatt in Lexington. One was Friday night and one was Saturday night. There were around 300 Woodmen of the World attending, Dr. Julie and Ozell Wilson and Twins of Louisville spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Feeback, Calcutta Road.
