

The Hart Family

The Hart family, Charles, Eulene "Scottie", Tony, Mary and David, get an early start on shipping tobacco on their family farm in Slate Valley.

An old stove is a warm welcome to any stripping room.

"Scottie" Hart, who is 72 years young has farmed her entire life and can still keep up with the best of them when it comes to stripping tobacco.

Two Sisters Pumpkin Patch offers local fall fun

Pumpkins and fodder shocks and mums. Oh my! It's the best of both worlds. The beauty of God's creation through the life of a farmer", Smith said.

More than just a place to pick out a jack-o-lantern, Smith and her sister, Alicia Webb-Trimbles, have cultivated a special place where folks of all ages can enjoy the simple beauty of autumn's harvest.

Since its humble beginnings in 1999, Two Sisters Pumpkin Patch has grown from a small patch of pumpkins sold on the "honor system" to a full-fledged business that keeps the family busy from day light to dark for six weeks during the fall.

"I wanted to find some way to keep the family farm a working farm", Andrea Webb-Smith said. "It seems God's answer to my prayers was pumpkins. Our Agritourism Journey began in 1998 with a vision to share the beauty of God's creation through the life of a farmer", Smith said. "I believe that we have been very successful in maintaining our family farm", Smith said. "We began the agricultural diversification process 11 years ago. Through hard work and God's abundant blessings we have seen the visitors to our farm grow from a few hundred in 1998, to 15,000-20,000 in 2008. There is, Smith believes, a future for the land, future farmers can accomplish great things" in the blessing of their fall harvest and to create a lifetime of memories with your friends and family.
